If only our dear departed ancestors could have known how eagerly we of a later generation would be visiting their cemeteries, delving into their family Bibles, haunting their county Court Houses in search of traces of their footsteps and records of their doings, they would have made our task easier by recording their comings and goings, and their carrying-ons!

But then, we should have missed the joy of ancestor hunting, and the thrill of untangling a particularly snarled-up bit of pedigree.

The compilation of a family history is a vast undertaking, requiring years of endless questioning of often disinterested kinsfolk; the writing of thousands of letters of inquiry and countless dollars spent for postage; miles no end of travel; innumerable hours rummaging in dim, dusty vaults, weed-grown cemeteries, and stuffy libraries. All that! - just to collect the various items of record, tradition, rumor, and dates. Then more days and months and years of carefully sifting, eliminating, comparing, computing, reasoning, and arranging, until the great cross word puzzle of genealogic data takes definite form and sequence.

The task is difficult even when the family has stayed near the ancestral roof-tree. But when its various branches have wandered far afield, as have those of the Blackwelder and allied families, the difficulties of research are multiplied many fold.

This story has its origin in the historic and fables region of Germany known as the SCHWARZWALD, or the Black Forest. In fact, the family whose history is herein presented, loved their forest homeland so much that they assumed its name as their own, and called themselves SCHWARZWALDERS, or "dwellers in the Black Forest".

But lore and legend and lovely scenery alone cannot feed hungry mouths or train eager minds or strengthen crushed spirits. It was a hard, cruel generation in which our ancestors lived in eighteenth century Germany. So it was to storied America the youth of the lovely Schwarzwald turned. Many arrived by way of Philadelphia, tarried a year or so in Pennsylvania, then pressed on down through the seaboard states to the Piedmont section of North Carolina. From the first half of the XVIII Century until the second decade of the XIX Century, the lives, labors, and loves of our ancestors revolved about their dearest social treasure, their church, St. John's, the beloved. Its story is for another historian to tell - mine is the story of the SCHWARZWALDERS.

At least they were originally Schwarzwalders. But they early discovered in Virginia that their English neighbors had trouble with their Teutonic name, so they promptly Anglicized it to its English equivalent - BLACKWELDER. Branches of the family that earlier and later settled in Pennsylvania and New Jersey retained the ancient form, modifying it no more than to drop the "ch" or perhaps change the "a" to "e". But the North Carolina, Virginia, Illinois, and all Southern and Western branches of the family have been called Blackwelder from at least as early as 1747, two hundred years.

The first of the season was a very successful one, and the weather was very favorable. The crops were all well, and the stock was in good health. The weather was very warm, and the crops were all well. The stock was in good health, and the weather was very warm.

The second of the season was also a very successful one, and the weather was very favorable. The crops were all well, and the stock was in good health. The weather was very warm, and the crops were all well.

The section of the New World to which our forefathers came was steeped in the traditions of slavery. To be sure, some of the Blackwelders' kinsfolk owned slaves - the 1790 Census for Mecklinburg County in the Salisbury District, North Carolina tells the story - among them being the Phifer brothers, Caleb and Martin, and their father, Martin, Senior; John Siminer, and the Barringers, John, and his father John Paul, whose wife was a daughter of Caleb Blackwelder. But most of the German colonists owned no slaves, and to many of them the system of slavery was as abhorrent as it was to the North Carolina Quakers.

As they were unwilling to endure the economic and political oppression of their German homeland, so many of them were loath to be crowded and cramped on the red soil of the Piedmont, in the heart of the intolerable social institution of slavery.

It is not strange, then, that the fertile, black soil of the Illinois prairies, its rolling Ozark hills, its invigorating climate, its freedom and opportunities should beckon thousands of hardy pioneers from Cabarrus, Rowan, Iredell, and Stanly Counties of North Carolina. The counties of Illinois that were enriched by the coming of these settlers were Union, Johnson, Perry and Jackson, in the southern part, and Montgomery in the south central section.

It is impossible to tell the story of the Illinois Blackwelders without investigating the ties that held them to their Carolina kinsfolk. Although the first Blackwelder came to Illinois from Cabarrus County, North Carolina over a hundred and twenty eight years ago, the Illinois and Carolina cousins still visit back and forth. The first serious effort to compile a Blackwelder Genealogy was that made by Mr. Isaac Simeon Blackwelder of Chicago, after a visit to his home at the time of the 1892-3 World's Fair by his second cousin, General Rufus Barringer of Charlotte, N.C. Mr. Blackwelder later made a trip to North Carolina where he received from Mr. Barringer other data, which, together with the record he himself secured from other sources, formed the basis of his brief Genealogy of the Blackwelder-Scherer Families.

That early brochure of Mr. Blackwelder's was the inspiration for this latest compilation of Blackwelder data. The record is by no means complete. Nor can it be hoped that it is wholly correct. The fact that the early Court House at Concord burned, destroying many documents of historical and genealogical value, has increased the difficulties of identifying various family lines. Then, too, the earliest records of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Cabarrus County have been lost, the earliest records now extant being in the 1790's.

Aside from the fact that this compiler wanted as full and accurate account of his ancestors as it was possible to secure without the extensive - and expensive - services of a professional genealogist, there remained this further incentive for the compilation and publication of such a genealogy: (1) the clarifying of relationships between the various Gottlieb Schwarzwalders, or Caleb Blackwelders, and (2) the refutation of a persistent tradition that one Polly Deck or was a heroine of the Revolutionary War. This compiler does not deny that such a person lived in early colonial days, but he utterly disclaims Polly Decker as an ancestress of his, and as politely as a gentleman can, challenges that lady's bid to fame by reason of a famous ride she is alleged to have made. North Carolina historians all agree that it was John Paul Barringer's mother-in-law who made the ride. Apparently some Phifer descendant of the Blackwelder family confused the mother of their ancestress, Margaret (Blackwelder) Phifer with the mother of Catherine (Blackwelder) Barringer, which latter lady must actually have made the ride. The error got into print, and with persistent regularity has been copied again and again without anyone questioning the plausibility or reasonableness of such an event.

The arguments against the Polly Decker theory will be presented on pages 9-12, 64-85. If one will take the time to analyze the argument, and think the whole matter through, and then insists that it was Polly Decker Blackwelder who rode behind Cornwallis' lines to visit her husband, son, and son-in-law who were prisoners of the British, the burden of proof will rest upon him. To make his argument convincing he should show:

1. That Caleb and Polly (Decker) Blackwelder were the parents of Catherine (Blackwelder) Barringer.
2. Explain how it came that after Margaret Blackwelder's birth in Germany in 1722 Polly had no more children until Catherine was born in 1755 - thirty three years later.
3. Account for the fact that Margaret was born in Germany, came to America in 1738, and that in 1755 Catherine was "born at sea" on the way to America.
4. Explain how Polly Decker, who was born possibly no later than 1705 - since she had a daughter born 1722 - could be the mother of a daughter born as late as 1772 and a son as late as 1774. (These were Catherine (Blackwelder) Barringer's sister, Rachel (Blackwelder) Cress and her brother Daniel Blackwelder.)
5. Show that Caleb Blackwelder and his wife Polly Decker ever did remove from Lunenburg County, Virginia, to that part of Anson County that later became Mecklinburg, and still later, Cabarrus County.
6. Prove that the Caleb whose wife was Polly Decker was the same Caleb who received a patent of land in Anson County June 24, 1762 - for that tract of land on Adams Run in present Cabarrus County ^{has} through the years been in the possession of descendants of that Caleb who was the father of Catherine Blackwelder Barringer.
7. Show that the Caleb whose wife was Polly Decker was the same Caleb who was born November 8, 1722 - (ten days later, mind you, than Polly Decker Blackwelder's daughter, Margaret, was born) and who died September 26, 1794, and whose estate was administered at the October term of Court in Cabarrus County 1794.
8. Explain how Isaac Blackwelder, No. 11, could have married his cousin, Mary PHIFER, if his mother was not a Phifer instead of a Decker.

These, and many other questions, simply cannot be answered if we do not recognize that there were two Caleb Blackwelders - one who was born possibly about 1700, who married Polly Decker, and was the father of Margaret Blackwelder Phifer, born 1722; and the other Caleb who was born 1722, married Betsy Phifer, came to America in 1756, 18 years after the first Caleb came, and who was the father of Catherine, born at sea, 1755, and of Isaac, born in Virginia 1757, and of John, born about 1760, Jacob, born 1763-4, Martin, born 1767, Rachel born 1772, and Daniel, born 1774 or later, and possibly another son, Frank. With this interpretation, every question is answered except this: How did it ever get into print that Polly Decker was the mother-in-law of John Paul Barringer.

That question I shall leave to those who still insist on the tradition of Polly Decker's ride, and to those who have the time and inclination to pursue the matter farther. As for me, I am satisfied with my conclusions, and shall now get on with the business of recording the data I have collected over a period of twenty-eight years of research in the following record depositories:

County Court Houses in Cabarrus, Mecklinburg, Rowan, N.C.

North Carolina Historical Commission, Raleigh, N.C.

Newberry Library, Chicago, Illinois.

Public Libraries of Los Angeles, Calif., Chicago, Ills.,

St. Louis, Mo., New Orleans, La., Hillsboro and Litchfield, both in Montgomery County, Illinois, Nashville, Tenn., Raleigh, N.C., Knoxville, Tenn., Jonesboro, Ills., Evanston, Ills., Urbana-Champaign, Ills., Springfield, Ills., Des Moines, Ia., Kansas City, Mo., Omaha, Nebr., and many other public libraries.

The McLean County (Illinois) Historical Society Library,

The Missouri Historical Library, St. Louis, Mo.,

The Sons of the American Revolution Library, Los Angeles,

Calif., The Institute of American Genealogy Library at

Chicago, Ills., The Mercantile Library, St. Louis, Mo.,

The State Historical Library, Springfield, Illinois, and other similar libraries.

Court Houses in Hillsboro, Montgomery County, Ills.,

Pinckneyville, Perry County, Ills., Murphysboro,

Jackson County, Ills., Jonesboro, Union County, Ills.,

Vienna, Johnson County, Ills. and in other county seats of Illinois.

In addition, I have corresponded with hundreds of individuals during the past twenty-eight years, hired professional genealogists, corresponded with many County Clerks and other workers in vital and historical records, interrogated scores of members of the older generations, copied dozens of Bible records, and visited countless cemeteries, copying epitaphs.

I am sure the dear departed ones do not care a rap about all this, but I have had a lot of fun, even if they were not so thoughtful of me and their other pedigree-minded progeny as to leave in black and white the record of their doings.

Illinois Territory gained statehood in the year 1818. The Blackwelder family was early represented here in the female line, but no male Blackwelder is known to have come to Illinois before 1833 when Peter, the son of Isaac (11) and his cousin, Alfred, son of Jacob (12) arrived and stopped in Union County where Alfred's sister, Rachel Blackwelder Karraker had settled the year Illinois became a state. Union County is located on the map of Illinois in the extreme southern part. Most of the Union County settlers from North Carolina came from Rowan and Cabarrus Counties. Among the North Carolina names listed in St. John's Lutheran Church books (that is Union County, Illinois St. John's) are Barringer, Cruse, Cline, Dillow, Lyerla, Meisenheimer, Fink, etc.

Jackson, Perry, Franklin, Williamson, and Johnson Counties also have descendants of North Carolina families in lesser numbers than Union and Montgomery. In Jackson settled the Lipes, Quillmans, Houses, Bosts, and a "Ridenour" family which has not been definitely linked with the Cabarrus and Stanly N.C. Ridenhours. Members of most of these families are in the other counties listed in this group. In Perry County, of which Pinckneyville is the county seat is a Baptist Church known as Nine Mile. In its cemetery are buried many Lipes and Quillmans who were born in Cabarrus County, N.C. The Ridenhours in this southern section of Illinois settled for the most part in Johnson County. This compiler has gathered all available records in Johnson and Montgomery Counties and is now compiling them, which with the records collected from North Carolina, will make a Ridenhour Genealogy similar to this, but not so large.

Montgomery County, nearer the center of the state of Illinois, was the center of attraction for most families sending representatives to Illinois. Its fertile black soil contrasts sharply with the thin stony hill country of southern Illinois. Here, in 1817-1818 settled Melcher Fogleman, who at one time was connected with St. John's in Cabarrus, but who lived no doubt farther north. Others who early came to Montgomery County from Cabarrus were these: The Allmans, Barringers, Blackwelders, Clines, Cresses, Files, Hefleys, Carrikers, Lingles, Lipes, Meisenheimers, Neislars, Bosts, Ridenhours. Other North Carolina families who settled in Montgomery were the Corlews, and Scherers, but they were not Cabarrus families.

Wherever these old St. John families settled they were interested in establishing churches. Union County has its St. John's as does Montgomery County. Perry County has its St. John's community, though so far as this compiler has been able to ascertain, no Lutheran Church has ever been founded there. Montgomery has its Bost Hill Church, Wares Grove, St. Paul's, Irving Lutheran, Litchfield English Lutheran and other Lutheran Churches. Illinois is proud of her German settlers.

BLACKWELDER

For more than two hundred years the Colonial German family of Blackwelder has been making its contribution to the enrichment of life in America. The origin of the family has been traced to Baden and Wurttemberg, Germany, and especially to the region of the Black Forest, which, in the native tongue, is known as The Schwarzwald. It is from that region that the family derives its name, the original form of the surname being Schwarzwaldler.

During the past two centuries a great deal of confusion has arisen over the identity of several members of the family who came to America. At least three Gottlieb Schwarzwalders came from Germany during the middle decades of the XVIII Century. One, whom I shall designate as Gottlieb I, arrived at Philadelphia February 3, 1738 with his wife, who tradition calls Polly Decker, and their daughter, Margaret, aged 16. The second Gottlieb, identified in this genealogy as Gottlieb II, arrived at Philadelphia in January 1756, accompanied by his wife, Betsey Phifer and their infant daughter, Catherine, who had been born at sea on the voyage to America, December 18, 1755. The third Gottlieb, whose line has not been traced, arrived at Philadelphia October 26, 1768.

Gottlieb I and II early changed their names to the Anglicized form, Caleb Blackwelder, as did John Adam, the brother of Caleb II, and another John, who with his wife, Margaret, was living in Virginia as early as 1746, and who was probably the father of Caleb II and John Adam Blackwelder. John and John Adam arrived at Philadelphia in the ship "Friendship", and qualified by taking the Oath of Fidelity September 20, 1738. They were among a total of 282 passengers, 195 of them being women and children. On pages 225-6* they are called Joanis and Adam Swartzwalter, aged 50 and 19 respectively. On page 228 they are listed as Johanes Schwartzwelder and Johann Addam Schwartzwald, and on page 230, as Johanns and Johann Adam Schwartzwelder. * (See Strassburger's Pennsylvania German Pioneers)

Absolute proof is lacking, but this compiler is of the opinion that this Johannes Schwartzwalder is the same person who, under the name of John Blackwelder deposed in Augusta County, Virginia, December 10, 1746 in the case of Humberstone, Lyon, and James Conoly. (See "Abstracts from the Records of Augusta County, Va., Vol. I, page 431) He is no doubt the same man who under date of Jan. 12, 1747 received a grant of 290 acres of land in Lunenburg County, Va., which land he sold to Caleb II Blackwelder in 1756. In the latter deed his wife is called Margaret. There is the possibility that he died within a few years, for on Nov. 26, 1763, a Margaret Blackwelder married Thomas Wilks. (See "Cumberland County Marriage Bonds" in William and Mary Quarterly, 1st Series, Vol. 20, page 23.)

Correspondence with various Evangelical Lutheran pastors in Baden and Wurttemberg, Germany, prior to World War II reveal the following facts as gleaned from the Church Registers:

Stoffel Schwarzwaldler of Buchenberg, Hornberger, had a son, Jerg (George) who about 1687 married Anna Maria, the daughter of Andreas Schneider, a linen weaver of Rittenbach. To George and Maria (Schneider) Schwarzwalders, according to the church records, were born two sons, Hans Jacob, born Sep. 14, 1688, and Andrew, born Feb. 4, 1692. Hans Jacob would have been 50 years of age at the time of the arrival in America of Johannes and Johan Adam Schwarzwalders on Sept. 20, 1738. And this Hans Jacob could have been, and no doubt was, the father of Johan Adam Schwarzwalders, who at the time of his arrival here was 19. The latter's birth would have been probably in the year 1719. In all probability this Johan Adam, the immigrant of 1738 was the son of Hans Jacob, (born Sept. 14, 1688) and brother of Caleb II, who, according to his gravestone, was born Nov. 8, 1722, and died Cabarrus County, N.C., Sept. 26, 1794.

Correspondence with Evangelical pastors in Germany has failed to reveal any record of the birth of Gottlieb Schwarzwalders I as a son of George and Anna Maria, but subsequent correspondence (if the church records have not been destroyed in the late war) may prove that Caleb I was a son of George and Anna Maria, and a brother of Hans Jacob and Andrew. Caleb I was born about 1700, eight years later than Andrew (1692) and twelve years later than Hans Jacob (1688).

This one thing students of the Blackwelder Family History must keep in mind is the fact that there were two Caleb Blackwelders, who were contemporary, but of different generations. This fact will be emphasized in a later paragraph.

Other Schwarzwalders came to America besides the Calebs and Johns listed above. Mathias arrived Aug. 25, 1751, and Christian landed at Philadelphia from Franconia, Wurttemberg, Oct. 22, 1754. A branch of the family prominent in Sussex County, N.J. in early days retained the ancient form of the name, Schwarzwalders, but the Southern branches, that is, the two Calebs and Johns, all used the form, Blackwelder.

Martin Schwartzwaller of Hardwick, Sussex County, N.J., left a will dated March 24, 1795 and probated Oct. 2, 1795. The Inventory amounted to £2,764-17-11. His wife, Catherine, and son-in-law, John Sipperly, were executors. The will was witnessed by Joseph and Charles Rhodes and John Murry.

A. Andrew.

(Notice the names John, Anna Maria, Andrew. Caleb II had children, John, Catherine, and grandchildren Andrew, Jacob, George, Mary, and Ann.)

On Aug.15, 1788, Martin Schwartzwelder was executor of the estate of Stophel Adams of Hardwick, whose wife was Catherine, and whose children were: Henry, Catherine, Jacob, Christina, Hannah, Barbara. Witness was Abraham Shaver. (See N.J.Archives, First Series, Vol.XXXVI, page 8.)

Another reference to Schwartzwelders in New Jersey mentions a Jacob whose wife was Christina, "a born Schwartzwelder". They had a son, Martin, who left descendants in Stillwater, N.J. This Jacob came from "Burgberg, Weyler, Stabs and Hornberger Amts. in Wurttemberg. This, of course, is the same locality where George and Anna Maria lived when Hans Jacob and Andrew were born in 1688 and 1692. There is a very definite connection among all these families.

Of the relationship between Caleb II and John Adam there is no doubt. They were brothers. The following is not presented as authentic - it is frankly theoretical - but may prove the starting point for a search for documentary evidence in Germany which will either prove or disprove these suggested relationships.

them was born a daughter, Margaret, Oct. 29, 1722, and possibly other children, though records of no others are found. In the winter of 1737-38, when Margaret was about 16 years of age, the family set sail from one of the northern ports of Germany for America. Tradition says that on the same ship with them was a young man of excellent and well-to-do parentage, named Martin Phifer. He is reputed to have been a son of Caspar Pfeiffer, second brother of John Baptist Pfeiffer, possessor of Trecherwitz, County Oels, Germany. If that is the case, he was descended from the Pfeiffers von Pfeiffersburg, Knights of Heiselsberg. A Diploma Patent of Nobility was granted on March 4, 1596 to Martin Pfeiffer, Dean of the Metropolitan Church of Prague, and to his brother, Caspar, and his nephew, Matthaeus Pfeiffer, making them knights of the ancient Austrian nobility.

Martin had a younger brother, John Pfeiffer who also came to America in 1738. Like the Blackwelders, these brothers Anglicized Pfeiffer into Phifer or simply Fifer. John is said to have left his home in upper Rowan County, N.C. to visit his brother, Martin, in Mecklinburg, but never reached his destination. Messengers were despatched to Martin's home when John did not return, and a search was started for him. He was found a week later, having been thrown from his horse and killed. He is known to have left a son, Matthias, and a daughter who married a Mr. Webb. This John Phifer could have been the father of Mary Phifer, who married her cousin, Isaac Blackwelder. (See No. 11.)

How long Caleb I and his wife, Polly Decker, and daughter, Margaret, and their friend, Martin Phifer, tarried in Pennsylvania is not known. Ten years later they are found in that part of Lunenburg County, Virginia, which later (1765) became Mecklinburg County.

Lunenburg was formed from Brunswick County in 1746, so the marriage of Margaret Blackwelder and Martin Phifer, which, according to the Phifer Family Bible took place on Oct. 1, 1745, must actually have been in Brunswick County, Va., though the family was living in territory which later became Lunenburg, and subsequently, Mecklinburg.

Landon C. Bell's "Sunlight on the South Side", pages 68, 12, 112, 114, 139, 141, 169, 171, 176, 177, 198, and 199 give lists of tithes for that section: from 1748 through 1752 the lists contain the names of Martin Phifer, Caleb Blackwelder, Henry Decker, (remember Caleb I's wife was Polly Decker) and Michael Barringer. (Caleb II had a daughter, Catherine, who married a Barringer.)

More minute scrutiny of the Brunswick, Lunenburg, and Mecklinburg County Court Records may give additional data on Caleb I and his wife, Polly. But apparently they vanish from the ken of men in that section of Virginia where their daughter became the bride of Martin Phifer. Some of Margaret Phifer's descendants claim that Caleb I and Polly removed to North Carolina and that he died there some time after 1778, and that Polly made the famous ride to Camden, South Carolina to see her menfolk who were prisoners of the British during the American Revolution. She is said to have died in Cabarrus County N.C. in 1785, aged past 80. Diligent research in various North Carolina county court houses and cemeteries has failed to produce one shred of evidence that Caleb I and Polly ever came to North Carolina (On the rock wall surrounding St. John's Cemetery in Cabarrus County

The following table shows the results of the experiments conducted on the effect of the concentration of the solution on the rate of reaction. The rate of reaction was measured by the volume of gas evolved per unit time.

Concentration of solution (M)	Rate of reaction (ml gas / min)
0.1	10
0.2	20
0.3	30
0.4	40
0.5	50

It is evident from the above table that the rate of reaction increases with the increase in the concentration of the solution. This is because a higher concentration of the solution means a higher number of particles per unit volume, which leads to a higher frequency of collisions between the reacting particles.

The following table shows the results of the experiments conducted on the effect of the temperature on the rate of reaction. The rate of reaction was measured by the volume of gas evolved per unit time.

Temperature (°C)	Rate of reaction (ml gas / min)
20	10
30	20
40	40
50	80

It is evident from the above table that the rate of reaction increases with the increase in the temperature. This is because a higher temperature means a higher kinetic energy of the particles, which leads to a higher frequency of collisions between the reacting particles.

The following table shows the results of the experiments conducted on the effect of the surface area of the solid reactant on the rate of reaction. The rate of reaction was measured by the volume of gas evolved per unit time.

is a small rough stone rudely carved with these letters MD B. If that is Polly's gravestone, then certainly she must have died in Cabarrus County, but that fact still does not disprove my thesis which will be stated later.

✓ There were Blackwelders, the name modified to Blackelter or Blacketter, living in Mecklinburg Co. Va., much later than the Blackwelders are said to have gone to North Carolina. In 1770 William Blacketer conveyed to Alexander Boyd certain real estate Blacketer had received in 1770. And on Sept. 10, 1787, Rachel, the widow and relict of William Blacketer qualified as Administratrix upon the estate of William. No settlement of the estate was ever filed. (This data is from a letter to the compiler of this genealogy, dated Boydton, Mecklinburg Co. Va., and signed by the Clerk, N.G. Hutcheson.)*

Nor did Henry Decker go to North Carolina. The Inventory of his estate was made in Mecklinburg Co. Va. in 1768. *
And Michael Barringer's will was made in Lunenburg Co. Va. in 1774. #

This compiler believes that only Martin Phifer and his family, and Caleb II and his family, and John Adam, Caleb II's brother, removed from Virginia to what is now Cabarrus County, N.C. Until positive documentary proof is adduced that Margaret Blackwelder Phifer's parents removed to Cabarrus County, N.C., this compiler is compelled to believe that the ashes of that worthy couple repose in some rural cemetery in southern Virginia, perhaps unmarked and unnoted through the more than 160 years which must have passed since their going to their reward.

Children: (Surname - Blackwelder)

7 I. Margaret, born Germany, Oct. 29, 1722. (Phifer Bible.)

5. JOHN ADAM BLACKWELDER, son of (3) probably, was born in Germany about 1719. He came to America with his father, John, Sept. 20, 1738. His whereabouts from his arrival in 1738 until June 24, 1762 are unknown. On that date he received a patent of land in Anson County, N.C. which was later within the boundaries of Cabarrus County. This patent was for 156 acres of land on Little Cold Water Creek and Rocky or Johnstons River, granted by Gov. Arthur Dobbs. (See N.C. Book of Deeds, Vol. 1, page 122. On the same date, John Adam's brother, Caleb II, received 151 acres on Adams Run in the same county.

On Sept. 6, 1794 John Adam and his wife, Catron, deeded their land to their son, Charles. (See Cabarrus County Court Minutes 1793-1797, page 61.)

John Adam Blackwelder is listed in the 1790 Census, page 161, as living in the Salisbury District, Mecklinburg County, N.C., and having in his household one male over 16 and one female. Evidently he and Catron were living alone, their sons, John and Charles, and any possible daughters having founded homes of their own.

The exact date of death of John Adam has not been found by this compiler, though his stone may be standing in some Cabarrus County cemetery which this compiler has not visited.

* * # For references see Appendix.

On April 16, 1805 the Cabarrus County Court "ordered that letters of administration issue on the estate of Catherine Blackwelder to Charles Blackwelder, who came into Court and produced as security David Suther, and was bound in the sum of £ 50, and was qualified as administrator. (See Cararrus County Court Minutes, 1797-1805, p.470.)

Children: (Surname - Blackwelder)

8 I. John

9 II. Charles

? III. Mary , b. about 1750, mar. John Shaver. (See Appendix)

6. CALEB BLACKWELDER II, (formerly Gottlieb Schwarzwaldler) the immigrant of January 1756, was born in or near Wurttemberg, Germany, Nov.8, 1722. He married in his native land Betsey Phifer, a sister, no doubt, of Martin Phifer, who married Margaret Blackwelder, a cousin of Caleb II (?).

This couple set sail from Bremerhaven, Germany for America. While on their voyage across the Atlantic a daughter, Catherine, was "born at sea" Dec. 18, 1755. They landed at Philadelphia in January 1756. (See p.1 of "The Blackwelder - Scherer Families" by Isaac Simeon Blackwelder.)

They lost no time in joining their kinfolk in Virginia, for a deed, dated Sept. 7, 1756, reveals the transfer to Caleb II of 290 acres of land from John and Margaret Blackwelder. (See Lunenburg Co. Va. Book of Deeds Vol.4, p.313.)

This land John had received from the State of Virginia by William Gooch under date of Jan.12, 1747. The land is described as "lying on both sides of the Horsepen Branch of Allen's Creek". (See State Land Office, Richmond, Va. Patent Book No.26, pp.159-160.)

Caleb II and his wife Betsey and daughter Katy were residing in that section of Lunenburg Co. Va. which later (1765) became Mecklinburg County on Nov. 17, 1757 when their next child, Isaac, was born. The latter's application for pension as a Revolutionary soldier recites that he was born on that date in Mecklinburg County, Va., which statement was true at the time of his application, although at the time of his birth the farm was still in Lunenburg.

No doubt a son, John, was born at the same place about 1760. On January 19, 1760 Caleb II deeded the 290 acres which he had received in 1756 from John and Margaret Blackwelder (his parents?) to William Phelps. (See Lunenburg Co. Va. Fiduciary Book 4, p. 41.) The deed was witnessed by William B. Blackater and Ann Decker, and was recorded May 6, 1760.

Shortly after this the family moved southward to the Piedmont section of North Carolina and located in that part of Anson County which in 1762 became Mecklinburg, and in 1792, Cabarrus. Earlier, to this section had come his cousin (?) Margaret, daughter of Caleb I and Polly Decker Blackwelder, and her husband, Martin Phifer and their sons, John Phifer, born 1747, and Caleb Phifer, born 1749. The latter, Martin Phifer, had on Oct.29, 1760, received a grant of 278 acres on Great Cold Water Creek, at that time in Anson County. (See Mecklinburg Co. N.C. Deed Book 1, p. 152.) But according to Rowan Co. N.C. Minute Book 1753 - 67, Martin Phifer was living on Cold Water Creek as early as March 1758.

Caleb II and his wife, Betsey Phifer, Martin Phifer's sister (?) became identified with St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, which at that time was known as Dutch Buffalo Creek Church. That justly famous church deserves a volume to itself, for its influence on the Germans of North Carolina and the states to the west, even as far as Illinois, has been tremendous.

In July and August 1945 the congregation of St. John's Church celebrated its Bi-Centennial Anniversary, the present lovely building being the fifth home of the congregation. The first was a small log building a few miles to the east of the present site. That was soon outgrown by reason of the influx of Germans from Pennsylvania and the mother country. All that marks the site of that earliest building is a large granite obelisk in a dense grove of trees, with an inscription that it is sacred to the memory of those members of St. John's Church who were interred there prior to 1750.

The second church edifice was much nearer to the present site of St. John's Church. All that remains of that second location is the old stone-walled spring.

The present beautiful building would have seemed a "cathedral divine" to Caleb II and Betsey had it been their privilege to worship in it. It was this compiler's gracious privilege to stand in its pulpit and preach to his distant kindred on the morning of July 28, 1946. What a thrill it was to him as he stood in that holy place to know that in the lovely cemetery near the Church reposed the ashes of great, great, great grandparents, Caleb II and Betsey Blackwelder, his great-great grandparents, Jacob and Elizabeth (Quillman) Blackwelder, and his great grandparents, Peter and Elizabeth Blackwelder.

Just a few miles to the west of the original St. John's Church, on Adams Run, was the log home of Caleb II and Betsey Blackwelder. The deed for the land was dated June 24, 1762. It was for 151 Acres in the County (then) of Anson, N.C., and is described as follows: "Beginning at a white oak running North 42° East 88 poles to a stake; thence North 59° West 140 poles to a stake; thence South 38° West 173 poles to a stake; thence South 52° East 80 poles to a hickory; thence North 75° East 182 poles to the first station, being the place where the said Caleb Blackwelder now lives on Adams Run, etc." (See Mecklinburg C. N.C. Deeds, Harris Book I, page 86.)

Caleb II's home was near that of Peter Quillman, whose daughter, Elizabeth, married Caleb's son, Jacob Blackwelder about 1789. Quillman and Caleb II Blackwelder witnessed the will of John Bost on Sept. 5, 1777. (See Mecklinburg Co. Wills, Book "A" p. 118.)

It was during the period of the Revolutionary War that most historical references to these early Blackwelders were recorded. Caleb II himself was too old for active service - having been born in 1722, and at the time of the Tory raids in what is now Cabarrus County, he was about 58 or 60 years of age. Nevertheless, he and his son-in-law, John Paul Barringer, just a year older than Caleb II, identified themselves with the colonists' cause of resistance to the British. Caleb not only provided supplies for the colonial army, but gave several sons to the cause. In the North Carolina Revolutionary Army Accounts on file in the N.C. Historical Commission Library in Raleigh, Vol. I, p.98, Folio 4, is listed Certificate NO. 33 from the Comptroller's Office, dated Jan.26, 1781, which shows that Caleb II was paid the sum of £ 1 - 10 - 0, probably for service on the Committee of Safety, while he was living in the Salisbury District of Mecklinburg Co.N.C.

And in "Accounts of the United States with North Carolina, War of the Revolution" Book "A" p. 169 (also in the Historical Commission) is listed Account No. 5229, Voucher No.9154, Report No.39, which shows that Caleb Blackwelder received £ 3 - 0 - 0 for a gun which he provided for the Revolutionary Army.

Accounts of the number of sons he gave to the Revolution vary. (See Colonial Records of N.C. 8:760; Bernheim's "History of the German Settlements and of the Lutheran Church in North and South Carolina" p. 246; Whitsett's "Founders of Church and State" p.7; and Alexander's "History of Mecklinburg Co. N.C." p. 201.)

The compiler of this pedigree inclines to the belief that not all of the Revolutionary soldiers of North Carolina bearing the name Blackwelder were sons of Caleb II. His brother, John Adam, had at least two sons, John and Charles. It is known that Charles was a soldier for he drew a pension. (See Certificate No. 27835 in the Comptroller General's General Accounting Office, Washington, D.C., and Pension Claim No. S. 6658 in the Veterans Administration, Washington.)

It is nearer the truth that Caleb II Blackwelder gave 4 sons to the Revolutionary cause, namely: Isaac, John, Jacob, and possibly Martin. In 1780 when the Battle of Camden took place, Isaac would have been 23 years of age, John would be about 20, Jacob, 17, and Martin 13, certainly not an unheard of age for a drummer boy or a rifer. Some historians say there were four Blackwelder boys at the Battle of Camden, three of whom found soldiers' graves. It is definitely recorded in the records of the family that John was at the Battle of Camden, but never returned to his home. It was supposed that he died in a British prison. If three or four Blackwelder boys died at Camden, all but this John must have been sons of John Adam and cousins of this John.

Now comes the bone of contention! A Blackwelder woman was a heroine of the Revolution. WHO WAS SHE? Many people claim that the mother-in-law of John Paul Barringer, and hence the mother of his wife's brothers, Isaac, John, Jacob, Martin, and Daniel Blackwelder, was Polly Decker; and that, when her husband and sons and son-in-law had been captured by the British and carried to Cheraw, S.C., "old Mrs. Blackwelder, nothing daunted, followed them on horseback, and ministered to their wants as well as to those of other prisoners, and even to the British, etc."

This compiler cannot accept the tradition that connects this fact with Polly Decker who was the wife of Caleb I. The odds are too great against it!

1. Polly Decker Blackwelder, to have been the mother of Margaret Blackwelder Phifer, born in 1722, must herself have been born not later than 1705, and probably as early as 1700.
2. Catherine Blackwelder Barringer, wife of John Paul Barringer, was "born at sea" Dec. 18, 1755.
3. No other children than Margaret and Catherine are accredited to Polly by the adherents of that theory - though the two girls were born 33 years apart.
4. "They" claim that Caleb I and Polly, with their daughter, Margaret, came to America in 1738.
5. General Rufus Barringer of Charlotte, N.C. at the time of the Chicago World's Fair in 1892-3, advised his Illinois relatives that his grandmother, Catherine Blackwelder Barringer, was "born at sea" Dec. 18, 1755. This was seventeen years after Caleb I and Polly landed at Philadelphia.
6. Caleb II is known to have had besides Catherine, born 1755, the following children: Isaac, born Necklinburg Co. Va. 1757, John, born Va., 1760, Jacob, born Cabarrus Co. N.C. 1763-4, Martin, born N.C. 1767, Rachel, born N.C. 1772, wife of Henry Cress, and Daniel, born N.C. 1774. A granddaughter of Daniel, Mrs. Sarah Walker Ritchie of Rowan County, N.C. who lived to be more than 100 years old, dying only a few years ago, stated that Caleb II also had a son Frank. That would be her mother's uncle. No other record of this Frank has been found than "Aunt Sarah's" memory which was phenomenal.
7. Could Polly Decker Blackwelder, born 1700 or even 1705, have been likely to have a daughter, Margaret, born 1722, and no more children for 33 years when she became the mother of Catherine, born 1755, and then in quick succession, seven more children, bearing Daniel about 1774, when she - Polly - was from 69 to 74 years of age.
8. Caleb II came to America in January 1756. Is it not logical that he should go immediately to Lunenburg County, Virginia, where his uncle Caleb I (?) and another Blackwelder kinsman, John, possibly his father, had preceeded him by perhaps 16 years or more, and where he secured from John Blackwelder in the fall of that same year, 1756, the tract of 290 acres of land which John had bought in 1747?

9. It is known that Catherine Blackwelder Barringer's brother, Isaac, was born in Lunenburg Co. Va. Nov.17, 1757. (See his Pension Application in the Veterans Administration in Washington, D.C. - Pension Claim No. S.6660)
10. A land grant, recorded in the Court House at Charlotte, N.C., Harris Deed Book I, p. 86, shows that Caleb (II) received a tract of land on Adams Run, which was then in Anson County, later in Mecklinburg, and now in Cabarrus County, and which, by later additions, was increased to a few more than 400 acres. This land continued in the possession of known descendants of Caleb II for many decades, and may still be owned by Blackwelder descendants, though I have not had the abstract records checked to ascertain the present owner. At the time Mr. Isaac Simeon Blackwelder of Chicago compiled his "Blackwelder - Scherer" Genealogy it was owned by direct descendants of Caleb II and Betsey Phifer Blackwelder.
11. The Histories of North Carolina are at variance even as to the name of the patriotic heroine. Two volumes - Tompkin's 'History of Mecklinburg Co. N.C., Vol.1, pp.19 and 81, and Ashe's "Biographical History of N.C., Vol. 1, pp.130-131, - call her Catherine Blackwelder, some call her Polly (Decker) Blackwelder, while others speak of her simply as "Old Mrs. Blackwelder". The famous address on "The Early German Settlers in Eastern Cabarrus", delivered by Gen. Rufus Barringer at the Luther Commemoration in Concord, N.C. Nov.10, 1883, is often quoted in support of the tradition that it was Polly Decker Blackwelder who made the famous ride to South Carolina in behalf of her menfolk who were prisoners of the British. But General Barringer does not call her Polly. He refers to her simply as "Old Mrs. Blackwelder", though the lady in question was the mother of his own grandmother, Catherine Blackwelder Barringer. *
12. When Caleb II's estate was settled in Cabarrus County N.C. in October 1794 the administrator was Martin Blackwelder, evidently a son. Caleb II is known to have had a son, Martin, born 1767. (See Cabarrus Co. Court Minutes 1794, January 1795, and July 18, 1797.)
13. When Martin took the oath appointed by law for administrators, he produced for security Isaac Blackwelder and Peter Quillman. The latter's daughter, Elizabeth, was Caleb II's daughter-in-law, she having married about 1789 his son, Jacob. Isaac Blackwelder was the Revolutionary soldier, a brother of the administrator, Martin, and his security, Isaac.

It is evident from the foregoing that the Caleb Blackwelder, whose wife was Polly Decker, and who was the father of Margaret Blackwelder Phifer, was NOT identical with the Caleb who was the father of Catherine Blackwelder Barringer and her brothers and sister, Isaac, John, Jacob, Martin, Rachel, Daniel, and possibly Frank.

14. The Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine, Vol. 69, p.365 states that Caleb Blackwelder and Peter Quillman are two of the Revolutionary soldiers buried in St. John's Cemetary in Cabarrus County, N.C. No stones now mark their graves. This is a very old cemetary. The early stones were made of slate, and rather rudely carved by local stone masons. Many of the original stones have vanished entirely. Others have fallen and been cast aside to rest on the rock wall which surrounds the cemetary on three sides. Such was the fate of Caleb Blackwelder's gravestone, until one of his descendants who cared removed it to Concord, thinking, no doubt, to have it reset. But years passed, and the town house where the stone had reposed in the basement was condemned to be torn down. The stone was then stored in the back room of Porter's Drug Store in Concord, N.C.

It was there that this compiler found it in the summer of 1944. Mr. Porter was of the opinion some descendant should take care of Caleb's stone, with the ultimate view of having it reset in St. John's Cemetary. This will eventually be done - but at this late day no one seems to know where the final restingplace of Caleb is. His son Jacob's stone, and that of the latter's second wife, Susannah, stand almost in the center of the old portion of the cemetary.

Caleb's stone is a small gray slate one measuring 11X14 inches. The base is entirely gone, but with the exception of a portion of the top of the stone which has weathered away, the inscription is clear and distinct. The face and back are like this:

Translated from the German it reads: "G. Schwarzwelter was born in the year 1722, the 8th of November. He died September 26, 1794."

This evidently is the same Caleb whose estate was admitted to probate in October 1794, a month after his death in September.

15. This Caleb was born Nov. 8, 1722, the same year Caleb I's daughter, Margaret was born, but too late to have been her twin, and too early to have been a sibling. Hence, this Caleb could not have been the father of Margaret Blackwelder Phifer, nor yet her brother. It follows then, that this Caleb's wife was not Polly Decker.

16. This Caleb was born in 1722 and died in 1794, and must have been the one who came to America in December 1756, whose wife was Betsey Phifer, and whose daughter, Catherine, was "born at sea" December 18, 1755.
17. If that is the case, then this Caleb - Caleb II - was the father-in-law of John Barringer (that is John Paul Barringer) and the one who was imprisoned with Barringer by the British. It could not then have been Polly Decker Blackwelder who made the horseback trip to South Carolina and got behind Lord Cornwallis' lines to visit her menfolk. If it wasn't Polly Decker, then it had to be Betsey Phifer Blackwelder, the wife of Caleb II.
18. When Gen. Rufus Barringer in 1893 visited his Illinois relatives, he and his second cousin, among others, talked of the family history. The general's grandmother, Catherine Blackwelder Barringer, was a sister of Isaac Simeon Blackwelder's grandfather, Isaac. Their fathers, Paul Barringer and Peter Blackwelder, were cousins. Some time after the general's visit to Illinois, Isaac Simeon Blackwelder made a trip to North Carolina where he did research on the family records, the result of which is included in a brochure on the Blackwelder - Scherer Families which Mr. Blackwelder had mimeographed about 1909, copies of which are to be found in many libraries of the United States.
19. Among the relationships which were accepted without question by both Gen. Barringer and I.S. Blackwelder were these:
 - A. Their grandparents, Catherine Blackwelder Barringer and Isaac Blackwelder, the Revolutionary soldier, were brother and sister.
 - B. Their fathers were first cousins.
 - C. They themselves were second cousins.
 - D. Isaac Blackwelder's wife, Mary Phifer, was cousin to Isaac and also to Catherine Blackwelder Barringer. This Mary was doubtless the daughter of some Phifer who was a brother of Caleb II's wife, Betsey Phifer Blackwelder. Could this Phifer have been the John Phifer of Rowan Co. N.C. who started to visit his brother, Martin Phifer, in Mecklinburg County, but who died on the way?

Unfortunately, the oldest records of vital statistics of St. John's Lutheran Church near Concord, N.C. have been lost, and extant records, which are now kept in the vault of the Concord National Bank in the care of Mr. Dewey Moose, begin about the year 1797, four years after Caleb II's death. Furthermore, the Cabarrus County Court House, which contained records of the administration of Caleb II's estate, with filed vouchers, etc., was burned some years ago and documentary evidence of his heirs was destroyed. The County Court Minutes alone contain reference to the settlement of his estate, under dates of October 1794, January 1795, and July 1797. The volume containing the references is in the archives of the North Carolina Historical Commission at Raleigh.

The cemetery of St. John's contains gravestones for Caleb II's sons Jacob and Martin, and his daughter, Rachel, wife of Henry Cress. His daughter, Catherine Barringer, is buried in the Old Lutheran Cemetery in Concord near the grave of her son, Paul Barringer.

Caleb II's son-in-law, John Paul Barringer, is buried at St. John's, not far from the supposed site of Caleb's resting place. The location of the grave of Caleb II's wife, Betsey Phifer Blackwelder, has been lost to posterity.

The 1790 Census for the Salisbury District of Mecklinburg County N.C. shows that Caleb II had in his household one male under 16, who must have been his son Daniel or Frank (?) and four females, one of whom was Rachel, a daughter, who in 1795 married John Henry Cress.

Children: (Surname - Blackwelder)

- 10 I. Catherine, born at sea, December 18, 1755.
- 11 II. Isaac, born Mecklinburg Co. Va. Nov. 17, 1757. He was a soldier of the Revolution.
- III. John, born probably in Lunenburg Co. Va. about 1760. He was a Revolutionary soldier and died in a British prison after the Battle of Camden, S.C.
- 12 IV. Jacob, born Mecklinburg Co. N.C. about 1763. (He was the ancestor of the compiler of this pedigree.)
- 13 V. Martin, born Mecklinburg Co. N.C. about 1767.
- VI. Frank (?) age unknown, if he ever lived.
- 14 VII. Rachel, born Mecklinburg Co. N.C. March 3, 1772. Married John Henry Cress.
- 15 VIII. Daniel, born Mecklinburg Co. N.C. about 1774.

For Reference see "Unpublished Family Bible Records" compiled by the Illinois State D.A.R., Vol. for 1927, pages 35-37, and "The Blackwelder-Scherer Families" by Isaac Simeon Blackwelder, in the N.C. Historical Commission Archives.

7. MARGARET BLACKWELDER PHIFER, daughter of (4) and his wife Polly Decker, was born in Germany, October, 29, 1722. When she was 16 her parents sailed for America, landing at Philadelphia February 3, 1738. Tradition says that on the same ship with them was a dashing young fellow named Martin Phifer, a descendant of the Pfeiffers von Pfeiffersburg, Knights of Heiselsberg, his immediate forebears having been engaged in the lucrative business of mining near Berne, Switzerland.

At any rate, this romantic couple settled near each other in Brunswick County, Va., where about 1740 Martin secured a patent of land "adjoining Blackwilder's". On October 1, 1745, they were married and the farm where they settled was located in Lunenburg County, which was carved out of Brunswick County in 1746. There in Lunenburg two of their three sons were born. At least three sons are credited to them, John, Caleb, and Martin, according to Martin Senior's will. (See Mecklinburg, N.C. Will Book "F" p. 37, under date of March 26, 1789.)

In Rumpel's "History of Rowan County" (N.C.) p. 288, the statement is made that "on the headwaters of Grant's Creek in the neighborhood of the present village of China Grove, there dwelt in the early times two families very closely connected. About 1760 John Phifer with five brothers came from Pennsylvania and settled in Rowan and Cabarrus (then Mecklinburg) Counties," etc.

The article then tells of John Phifer's marrying Catherine, the daughter of John Paul Barringer, and of his signing the Meck-linburg Declaration of Independence in 1775. If the John Phifer referred to by Rumpel was John, the son of Martin and Margaret (Blackwelder) Phifer, there is no record of his having been one of five brothers. In 1760, when, according to Rumpel, he came to Rowan Co. N.C. or Cabarrus County, he was only 13 years old; and in 1763, when Rumpel says he was married to Catherine Barringer, he was only 16. (See Rumpel's "History of Rowan County", page 288.)

If the John Phifer referred to by Rumpel was not the son of Martin and Margaret Phifer, he must have been a brother of Martin, and conceivably then was the father of that Mary Phifer who married her cousin, Isaac Blackwelder, son of Caleb II.

As early as 1758 Martin and Margaret Phifer had settled on Big Cold Water Creek in Anson Co. N.C., on a tract of land which by alteration of county lines later lay in Cabarrus County. (See Rowan County Minutes 1753-67, page 146)

In the 1790 Census for North Carolina, page 161, the Phifers were living in the Salisbury District of Mecklinburg Co. He is called Martin, Senior, and had in his family, besides himself and wife, Margaret, one male under 16. This was no doubt his grandson, Paul Phifer, son of his deceased son, John. There were 14 slaves. Martin Phifer, Senior's will, dated March 26, 1789 is recorded in Mecklinburg County Will Book "F" page 37.

Margaret d. January 18, 1803 and is buried with her husband in Red Hill Cemetary on a portion of their old farm. Her stone is badly broken.

Children: (Surname - Phifer)

- 16 I. John, b. Lunenburg Co. Va. March 22, 1747.
- 17 II. Caleb, born Lunenburg Co. Va. Apr. 18, 1749.
- 18 III. Martin, b. "Cold Water" Plantation, Anson County, N.C. March 25, 1756

8. JOHN BLACKWELDER, son of (5) and his wife, Catron, was born probably in Lunenburg Co. Va. about 1755, but while a small child he removed with his father's family to that section of Anson County, N.C. which is now Cabarrus County. His posterity has not been fully traced by this compiler. He is listed in the N.C. 1790 Census of Mecklinburg County as having in his family a son under 16 and six females.

He received a N.C. State Grant of 37 acres of land on Cold Water Creek, Mecklinburg County Aug. 7, 1787. This was later in Cabarrus County. (See Mecklinburg Deeds 13:310 No. 741.

Children: (No known children have been found by this compiler. However, there were some Blackwelder girls's marriages recorded, (or rather marriage bonds) who so far have not been identified. They could possibly have been children of this John or of his brother, Charles. Tentatively I am placing them here.

- I. Lea, married Jan. 19, 1795 Daniel Cline
- II. Nancy, married Apr. 7, 1798 Jacob Duke.
- III. Elizabeth, married May 8, 1805 Wm. Gallimore. (Bondsman was John Blackwelder.
- IV. Barbara, married Dec. 28, 1808 John Shortle.

9. CHARLES BLACKWELDER, son of (5) and his wife, Catron, was born in May 1761 probably in that part of Anson County N.C. which in 1762 became Mecklinburg, and in 1792, Cabarrus. He was a soldier of the American Revolution. According to his Pension Application S.6658 he volunteered about March 1, 1780, and served 4 weeks as a private in Capt. Stearn's Company, Col. Barger's N.C. Regiment. He enlisted again about Apr. 15, 1780, and served as a private in Capt. Reese's Company, Col. Davidson's N.C. Regiment, and was discharged after having served 4 weeks. On his return home he volunteered in May 1780 and served as a private in Capt. Stearne's and Zaccheus Wilson's Companies, Cols. Barger's and Davidson's Regiments, and was discharged in September 1781, after having served a tour of one year and two months. He volunteered in Sept. 1781, served as a private in Capt. Wm. Gardner's Company, Col Loftin's N.C. Regiment, and was discharged in December 1781. During his service he was on various expeditions against the Tories in Mecklinburg County and adjacent counties, his service in all amounting to one year and eight months.

He was allowed pansion on his application executed Oct. 15, 1832 while a resident of Cabarrus Co. N.C. "In 1833 one Isaac Blackwelder made affidavit in Cabarrus Co. N.C. in behalf of the soldier Charles Blackwelder, but did not state any relationship to him. (He was first cousin, their fathers, John Adam and Caleb II being brothers. Charles also made affidavit for Isaac when the latter applied for pension July 21, 1834. Charles' pension, Certificate No. 27835, issued June 6, 1834, was at the rate of $ 22.10 per annum. (see D.A.R. "Roster of N.C. Soldiers of the Revolution" page 423.)

Charles Blackwelder received a grant (No. 675) of 28 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres on Little Cold Water Creek in then Mecklinburg County. (See Mecklinburg Deeds 13:312)

Charels is recorded in the 1790 Census for the Salisbury District, Mecklinburg Co. as having 2 males under 16, and 3 females in his family.

On July 16, 1793 he was appointed overseer of the road from James Scott's to the forks of the road by Martin Stough's. (See Cabarrus Co. Minutes, 1793-97. He was called to do jury service Jan.22, 1794. (See Minutes 1793-97, page 35. On July 20, 1796 he was appointed on a commission to lay out a road from the Court House in the new city of Concord to Fayetteville by Martin Stough's and the county line. (See above, p.144) Other references to his county activities amy be found in the Cabarrus Co. Minutes for 1797, 1799, 1801, and on p.358 of the 1797-1805 Minutes.

In the last volume, p.470, under date of Apr. 16, 1805, it was "ordered by the Court that letters of administration issue on the estate of Catherine Blackwelder (mother of Charles) to Charles Blackwelder, who came into Court and produced as security David Suther, bound in the sum of £ 50-0-0. He was qualified." According to the Pleas and Quarter Sessions Trial Dockett of Cabarrus Co. N.C. for 1805-06, p.1, the Inventory of the estate of Catherine Blackwelder was produced by Charles Blackwelder. The estate amounted to £ 22-0--.

Since the estate settlement includes the names of no children, and since the St. John's Church Records do not show any records of baptisms for any children for Charles, it is difficult to know who were his children listed in the 1790 Census. One or more of the girls listed as John's (No.8) may have been Charles's.

10. CATHERINE BLACKWELDER BARRINGER, daughter of (6) and his wife Betsey Phifer, was born at sea on the voyage to America December 18, 1755. The family had sailed from Bremerhaven, Germany, and landed at Philadelphia in January, 1756. They probably went immediately to Lunenburg Co, Va., where the father, Caleb II Blackwelder, received 290 acres of land on Horsepen Branch of Allen's Creek from John Blackwelder who had received the same tract in 1747. Catherine lived near her father's uncle (?) Caleb I and her mother's brother (?) Martin Phifer. The Blackwelder family did not long remain in Virginia, for by June 1762 they were located in Anson County, N.C.

In 1777 Catherine Blackwelder, at the age of 22, married as his second wife John Paul Barringer (Boehringer) of her father's generation. John Paul was born in Wurttemberg, Germany June 4, 1721 and came to America in the ship "Phoenix" arriving at Philadelphia Sept. 20, 1743 in a group of Redemptorists. He married (1) in Pennsylvania Ann Elizabeth Eiseman who bore him a daughter, Catherine, Nov. 24, 1750, and a son John, Nov. 26, 1752. The mother of these children died in North Carolina about the time of the Revolutionary War, and in 1777 Catherine Blackwelder married the widower Barringer, and became step-mother to children older than herself.

John Paul Barringer was a member of the Committee for Safety of Mecklinburg County, and was, with James Hogg of Orange County, appointed by unanimous consent of the Halifax Convention of 1776 to be Justice of the Peace. (See Alexander's History of N.C., pp. 197-199) He, with his father-in-law, Caleb II Blackwelder, was captured by the Tories and carried to Camden, S.C. where they were long imprisoned. His wife's mother, Betsey Phifer Blackwelder, made at least one trip and possibly two behind Lord Cornwallis' lines to effect the release of her husband, her son John, and her son-in-law Barringer. While she was there an epidemic of small pox broke out and Betsey remained to nurse the soldiers both American and British. She inadvertently carried the disease back to her family, and it is said that her little grandson, Paul Barringer, carried the pockmarks all his life. (See Tompkin's "Mecklinburg Co. N.C." p. 81, where Catherine Blackwelder Barringer, the daughter is confused with the mother, Betsey Phifer Blackwelder.)

John P. Barringer and his father-in-law were ultimately released from British prison through Betsey's influence and that of a man named Levenstein. (See Alexander's History referred to above pp. 197 - 199.)

Mr. Barringer used daily a large "Luther Bible" printed in 1747, which is now in the possession of Mr. Osmond L. Barringer of Charlotte, N.C., and which the compiler of this pedigree photographed in July 1946. It is probable that this Bible was brought from Germany at the time John Paul's parents and brothers and sisters were at his request coming to America. The parents died on the voyage and were buried at sea. The rest of the family came on to North Carolina where they married and became the progenitors of many fine citizens of Cabarrus County.

The "Yellow Meeting House" of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran congregation in Cabarrus County was built largely at Barringer's expense and the congregation voted him a raised seat of honor, which was removed to the newer church of St. John's when it was rebuilt.

Governor Tryon visited the Barringer plantation during a tour in 1768 and was greatly pleased with his hospitality.

Catheriné Blackwelder Barringer lived to the advanced age of 94 (1847) seeing her children and her children's children rise to positions of honor and prominence, and having the unusual pleasure of seeing both a son and a grandson on the floor of the Federal Congress. She died at Concord, Cabarrus Co. N.C. Oct. 29, 1847 and is buried in the Old Lutheran Cemetery near her son Paul and his wife, the famous Elizabeth Brandon, whom history records as the lassie of Brandon Acres who so hospitably entertained General Washington on his memorable trip to Salisbury, N.C. Catherine's will is in the Court House at Concord, Will Book 1, page 144.

John Paul Barringer died January 1, 1807 and is buried at St. John's where his father-in-law, Caleb II Blackwelder is buried.

On Nov. 19, 1855 Leah Barringer Smith aged 63 of Cabarrus County, made affidavit that she was the only surviving child, and was heir at law of Paul Barringer, late of the county of Cabarrus, and a private in the N.C. Troops, or Militia, War of the Revolution; that he entered from Mecklinburg County, and that he died on the date named above; that he left her mother, Catherine, a widow; that they had been married in Mecklinburg in 1777, and that the mother's name before her marriage was Blackwelder; that her mother died on the date named above and left surviving her, Leah and Polly Harris; that there was no record of said marriage. Hence Leah was applying for the benefits of an Act of Congress for Pensions for Revolutionary soldiers.

At the same time and place (Nov. 19, 1855) Rufus Barringer (Catherine's grandson) made affidavit that he knew Catherine 25 or 26 years before her death; that he had examined the family record, a leaf in a blank book purporting to be the "ages" of the children of Paul, and includes the record in his affidavit. This Pension File is to be found in the records of the Veterans' Administration, The Archived Building, Washington, D.C.

The will of John Paul Barringer, included in the Pension Application, was dated Aug. 4, 1805. The executors were John Barringer, Senior, and Paul Barringer and George Savitz. The abstract of the will follows:

To wife, Catherine, land in Montgomery Co., Paul Donald's place of 400 acres for life; home place, same, and $\frac{1}{2}$ part of his clear land and the fruit; also £400 money; at her death, Montgomery Co. farm to be sold and proceeds equally distributed among the children.

To son Paul, home place, subject to mother's interest, that is two old certificates from Gov. Dobbs 185 and 119 acres, plus 50, State Grant Nov. 21, 1784; plus 19 acres Nov. 26, 1789; also 227 to make up remaining part of 600 acres, and the remaining part being the 373 acres to be sold and divided equally among the children. Also to Paul some farm implements, one negro, and £100.

To son Matthias 220 acres, old Eagner's place where he now lives on Dutch Buffalo Creek, plus 50 adjoining, plus $675.

To son Daniel 1200 Spanish dollars; son Jacob the same.

Each of my daughters of my second marriage, Elizabeth, Sarah, Esther, Leah, and Polly $800, each.

To son John L 600 advanced in 1795

Remaining property to be sold and divided equally among children, John, Catherine, Paul, Matthias, Elizabeth, Sarah, Esther, Daniel, Jacob, Leah, Polly, and wife."

The Comptroller of North Carolina in 1855 certified that his records showed that Paul Barringer had been paid as follows:
Book 3, page 19, £2, 10 shillings, Salisbury District.
Book 175, page 6, £40-12-6, allowed by the Committee of Safety, 1779.

Catherine Blackwelder Barringer is buried near her son, Paul, in the Old Lutheran Cemetery in Concord. Her epitaph reads thus: .

Children: (Surname - Barringer)

I. Paul, b. Sept. 26, 1778, "Poplar Grove" in that part Mecklinburg County N.C. which later became Cabarrus County. He was a member of the House of Commons of North Carolina from 1806 to 1815, and of the Senate in 1822. He was a general in the War of 1812. He married (2) Feb. 21, 1805, Elizabeth Brandon, daughter of Capt. Matthew Brandon, Esquire. Elizabeth was born Jan. 14, 1783 and died Nov. 22, 1844. She was the "Betsey Brandon" of the story books who entertained Gen. Washington on his trip thru Rowan County, N.C.

"When the general died at "Burton's Hotel" in Lincoln, nearly all the family gathered at "Bellevue" the family home, and the largest concourse of people up to that time ever seen in Concord attended the funeral. In the family group was a striking figure, his aged mother (Catherine Blackwelder Barringer) then aged 89 years." (Ashe's Biographical History of N.C. Vol. I, page 98.)

Paul Barringer was a very small child when his grandmother, Betsey Phifer Blackwelder, made her famous ride to Camden, S.C. to secure the release from prison of Paul's father, John Paul Barringer, and grandfather, Caleb Blackwelder. While nursing soldiers sick with smallpox her clothing was infected with the germs which she unwittingly carried back to Concord and exposed her little grandson. He ever after bore the marks of the disease.

Paul Barringer died June 20, 1844 and is buried by his wife and mother in the Old Lutheran Cemetary, Concord, N.C.

It was Gen. Rufus Barringer who visited his Illinois kinsmen at the time of the Chicago Exposition in 1893, and gave them many of the data which, with material later obtained from original sources in North Carolina by Isaac Simeon Blackwelder of Chicago, were incorporated in a brochure on the Blackwelder - Scherer Families by the latter.

July 13, 1805, Thomas Clark of Virginia, and removed to West Tennessee with her sister, "Polly" Barringer Harris, and lived on a farm in Madison County for a few years, after which the Clark family moved to Texas. There were at least two daughters, according to their Harris relatives of Trenton, Tenn.
- VII. Daniel Laurens, b. Mecklinburg Co. N.C. Oct. 1, 1788. He was a member of the N.C. State Legislature 1813, 1819, and 1821. He mar. Nancy Ann White, a granddaughter of Governor Caswell of North Carolina. He removed to Tennessee about 1837 and settled on a large tract of land about ten miles from Shelbyville the county seat. He was a very distinguished lawyer and a public servant for many years both in North Carolina and in Tennessee. He represented his N.C. district in the U.S. Congress for sixteen years; he was an officer, with the rank of general in the N.C. Militia. After moving to Tennessee he was elected a member of the state Legislature, and soon became the speaker of the House of Representatives. He died at Shelbyville, Tennessee in October 1852.

11. ISAAC BLACKWELDER, son of (6) was born Nov. 17, 1757 in that part of Lunenburg Co. Va. which is now Mecklinburg Co. His father's farm is described as lying on both sides of the Horsepen Branch of Allens Creek.

While still a small child his father removed to Anson Co. N.C. and on June 24, 1762 received a grant of land on Adams Run in that part of Anson County which in that year became Mecklinburg County, and in 1792 became Cabarrus County.

According to Pension Claim S. 6660 as recorded in the Veterans' Administration in Washington, D.C., Isaac Blackwelder, while a resident of Mecklinburg County, N.C. enlisted Feb. 15, 1776 and served as a private in Capt. John Barringer's Company, Col. Thos. Polk's N.C. Regiment. (Capt. Barringer was the step-son of Isaac Blackwelder's sister, Catherine Blackwelder Barringer.) Isaac went on an expedition against the Tories in the southeast part of North Carolina, and was discharged about March 15, 1776.

He enlisted again the last of June 1776, and served as a private in Capt. Barringer's Company, Col. John Phifer's N.C. Regiment. (John Phifer was probably his cousin, being the son of Martin and Margaret (Blackwelder) Phifer, Martin in all probability being a brother of Isaac's mother, Betsey Phifer Blackwelder.) On this tour Isaac accompanied an expedition against the Cherokee Indians, during which 8 of their towns were destroyed, and was discharged the last of September 1776.

He enlisted the middle of June 1780, served as a sargeant in Capt. Matthias Beaver's Company, Col. George Alexander's N.C. Regiment, was in the Battle of Camden, in which place his aged father and brother-in-law and brother, John, were prisoners of the British. Isaac was discharged the last of August 1780, having served on this tour 2 months and 2 weeks.

The following is an extract from a letter sent by John J. Blackwelder of Bedford, Pa. to Asa I. Blackwelder of Lenoir, North Carolina, a copy of which was sent to the compiler of this pedigree:

"John was captured at the Battle of Camden, and although his mother, a woman of great heroism and decision, made two trips on horseback from Concord, N.C. to Camden, S.C. for the purpose of obtaining his release, which was promised through exchange, he was never restored. It was believed that he was executed with other prisoners. Bancroft mentions this custom as not unusual on the part of the British at that time. At the close of the Revolutionary War, the family name was changed from the German to the English form."

In this latter Mr. Blackwelder is mistaken, for the name Blackwelder is found in Virginia records as early as 1746.

Isaac Blackwelder was allowed a pension on his application while he was living in Cabarrus Co. N.C. Certificate No. 27903 was issued Aug. 23, 1834, granting him a Revolutionary soldier's pension of $25.44 per annum, beginning March 4, 1831. The last payment on his pension was made in September 1843.

He is listed in the 1790 Census in the Salisbury District of Mecklinburg County, N.C. as having 4 males under 16 and 2 females. (See 1790 Census for N.C. p. 161.) He is also listed in the 1830 and 1840 N.C. Censuses.

Isaac Blackwelder was twice married, and had 19 children - 5 by his first wife, Mary Phifer, his cousin, and 14 by his second wife, Mary Redling, whom he mar. June 1, 1796. The bondsmen were Paul Phifer and John Simianer, son and son-in-law respectively of Isaac's - and also his first wife's cousin, John Phifer.

He died on the old home place near Concord, N.C. in 1843 at the age of 86. A number of his descendant came to Illinois, among whom was Peter Blackwelder, the father of Isaac Simeon Blackwelder, the compiler of the brochure mentioned a number of times in this record.

Isaac Blackwelder's name is often found in the County Records of Mecklinburg and Cabarrus:

Mecklinburg Deeds 13:27, where he received 88½ acres on Adams Creek, where his father, Caleb, had settled as early as 1762. The grantor of this land was Jacob Effert, the date Dec. 1786.

Cabarrus Co. Court Minutes 1793-1797, p. 182: He was selected for Jury duty Apr. 14, 1797, also on Oct. 18, 1797.

His will (Cabarrus Co. Wills 1:29, dated Jan. 21, 1843) names daughter Ann, son Moses, and son Jeremiah or "Jerry", the latter of whom was his executor.

Children: (Surname - Blackwelder)

- I. Jacob, b. about 1779. He mar. 1-18-1802 Froney Groner. In the 1850 Census for Cabarrus County, Jacob was aged 71. Evidently the wife was dead, and a daughter, Sophronia, aged 33 was in the household. There was also a child, Robert, aged 4 years.

On the basis of research made for this compiler by Mrs. John B. Houston of Mooresville, N.C., and from census records for Iredell County, N.C. and personal recollection of Miss Minnie Templeton of Mooresville, N.C., the following pedigree is constructed.

Children of Jacob and Froney: (Surname - Blackwelder)

A. Hugh, b. about 1804, a tanner. He witnessed the marriage of his sister Leah to George Templeton in Cabarrus County, 4-16-1833. In 1830 a land conveyance took place between Hugh Blackwelder and John Lowrance for land in Iredell and Rowan Counties. (See Iredell Deed Book, page 40. And on 9-27-1830 Hugh of Cabarrus County is recorded as having paid $5.00 to Charles Downs of Rowan on a certain tract of land lying along the waters of Maloney's Branch in Iredell. Deed Book B2, p.499 dated 1849 shows land transfer between Hugh and his brother-in-law Templeton for 240 acres in Iredell for $250.

Hugh Blackwelder lived with his sister Leah and her husband until his marriage to George Templeton's sister, Rebecca. Hugh and Rebecca had an adopted son, Borden Johnston.

B. Jacob, born about 1805, mar. Nancy McNeely, who was b. about 1812. (See Iredell Co. Census Record 1850.) H.E. McNeely of Iredell, by will dated 1877 bequeathed a bed quilt apiece to his nephews, Robert and Winfield Blackwelder and a Bible to his sister, Nancy Blackwelder. (See Iredell Will Book B-4, p.280.)

Children: from 1850 Census Iredell Co. Surname-Blackwelder)

1. Martha A.S. b. about 1833
2. William M. b. about 1834.
3. Hugh F., b. about 1836.
4. J. or I.L.D. b. about 1841.
5. Mary A.E. b. 1845.
6. Robert A., b. 1847.
7. Margaret L., b. 1849-50.

C. Nancy - never married.

D. Sophronia, never married. Perhaps this is the Suphronia aged 33, who is listed in the Cabarrus County 1850 Census in the home of Jacob Blackwelder, aged 71.

E. Lizzie, married -- Davis.

F. Leah, b. probably in 1819. Miss Minnie Templeton states that Leah was 14 when she married George Templeton in 1833, though Miss Minnie gives Leah's birthdate as 1814 and her death as occurring in 1906. According to Miss Templeton Leah's people lived at "Amity Hill" a community near the Templeton homestead, which latter place was about ten miles from Mooresville, N.C. There Leah was born and reared.

Leah married in Cabarrus County 4-16-1833 George Templeton, b. 1781, the son of George and Eleanor (Gracey) Templeton. George and Leah lived near the Old Back Creek Church for a number of years, then moved to Mooresville, where Leah is said to have died in 1904. George died in 1853. Both are buried at Old Prospect Church about four miles from Mooresville. Leah spent her last days with a son in that city.

(For Templeton Records, see the Templeton Bible in possession of the Mooresville Templetons.)

- 19 II. John Blackwelder, son of Isaac (11) and Mary (Phifer) Blackwelder

III. Elizabeth. According to the Cabarrus County Court Minutes (1797-1805) on April 18, 1804 one Elizabeth Blackwelder was allowed the sum of £ 10 for the maintenance of herself and child for one year, to be paid by George Meisenheimer, the reputed father of the child, in quarterly payments. An Elizabeth Blackwelder mar. 5-8-1805 William Gallimore. Whether these Elizabeths are one and the same person has not been verified.

IV. Isaac. An Isaac married 8-31-1819 Elizabeth Boger, daughter of Daniel and Catherine Boger, Martin Blackwelder being bondsman. An Isaac Blackwelder had a daughter, Leila b. 8-20-1820 and a daughter, Lindy baptized 12-21-1822. For above dates see Cabarrus County Marriage Bonds and St. John's Church Books.)

V. Caleb, b. about 1789. He mar. 4-4-1809 in Cabarrus Co. N.C. Leah Cline, Michael Cline bondsman. He was a soldier of the War of 1812, enlisting at Concord, aged "about twenty-five years" and served from Feb. 21, 1815 to March 3, 1815, as a private in Capt. E. Wiley's Company, N.C. Militia. He died Feb. 15, 1849 at his residence in Iredell Co. N.C.

Leah Cline Blackwelder was allowed bounty land in full satisfaction for the service rendered by her husband, Caleb Blackwelder, in the War of 1812, on her application executed May 17, 1855, at which time she was a resident of Alexander Co. N.C. In 1878 she was residing in Cabarrus County and gave her age as 86 years.

According to the Clerk of the Probate Court of Iredell County Caleb's estate was settled 5-18-1852, though only the inventory remains of record. Leah and her family are listed in the 1850 Census for Iredell County, her age being given as 58, indicating that she was born about 1792. In her household were seven persons ranging in age from 7 to 28 years. She is listed in the 1870 Census for Cabarrus County as aged 79 with a female, Jane, 29, and a female, Julia, aged 13 in her home. It is presumed Leah died in Cabarrus County, N.C. (For Caleb's military record see The Veterans' Administration W.O.15349)

Children: (Surname - Blackwelder)

- A. Elizabeth b. 12-11-1813
- B. John, b/bap. 7-24-1815.

- C. Wilson, b.bap. 6-10-1817.
- D. Moses, b/bap/ 4-16-1821.

- F. Mary Diana, b/bap. 1-15-1824.
- 19a G. Caleb Alexander.
- H. Benjamin F. b. about 1835.
- I. Jane C., b. about 1837.
- J. Augustus, b. about 1840.
- K. Rufus A., b. about 1843.

(For above dates see St. John's Church Records and the 1850 Census Record for Iredell County, N.C.)

- VI. George, b. 6-24-1792. Mar. 6-3-1819 Elizabeth Stough, daughter of Martin and Christina Stough, Jacob Blackwelder, George's brother, being bondsman. (See Cabarrus Co. Marriage Records)

George and Elizabeth are listed in the 1850 Census for Cabarrus County, his age being given as 57 and hers as 47. Evidently Elizabeth was every inch a woman, and cheated on her age a bit, for her gravestone shows that she was b. 1-25-1800 and d. 11-23-1872. Hence she was 50 at the time of the 1850 Census instead of 47. George d. 1-30-1856. Both are buried in the Old Lutheran Cemetery in Concord. Elizabeth is named in her father's will. (See Cabarrus Co. Minutes Docket Book III, p.168.)

24 XVI. Mary Annie

XVII. Sarah. A Sarah mar. 1-5-1836 Israel Meisenheimer.

XVIII. Christina, mar. ? Meisenheimer.

Inasmuch as Mr. Isaac Simeon Blackwelder who compiled the original brochure on the Blackwelder family states that Isaac was the father of 19 children by his two wives, Mary Phifer his cousin, and Mary Redling, but names only 16 of them, which leaves the list incomplete; and because Miss Lou Blackwelder of Charlotte, N.C. insisted that Caleb Blackwelder, (No.19a) and Martin, (No.19d), Burton, (No.19b) and Riley Blackwelder below, were cousins of her father, Lawson Alexander Blackwelder, (No. A, page 30), this compiler is including the following brothers (?) as children of Isaac Blackwelder and his second wife, Mary Redling.

XIX. David, b. about 1797. He mar. Esther Stough, dau. of Martin and Christina Stough, and sister of Elizabeth Stough, his brother George's wife. (See Estate Record of his father-in-law, Martin Stough, whose will is dated 1-28-1839. Stough's estate was settled Cabarrus Co. N.C. with the sale held on 2-7-1852. Esther was b. about 1798, according to the 1850 Census.

Children: (Surname - Blackwelder)

- I. Mary C. or D., b. about 1845.

This writer has not proved to his own satisfaction that Nelson, David, George are children of Isaac and Mary (Redling) Blackwelder, and has included them and their children here^{on} Miss Lou Blackwelder's insistence that her father was a cousin of Caleb Alexander Blackwelder of Old Fort, McDowell Co. N.C., who could scarcely have been descended from any Blackwelder other than Isaac and Mary.

If these four men were brothers, and not sons of the Revolutionary soldier, Isaac Blackwelder, they may have been sons of John, (No. 8, page 14) or Charles, (No. 9. page 15.) In that case they were grandchildren of John Adam Blackwelder, the immigrant of 1738, who received a land grant in 1762 in that part of Anson Co. N.C. which later became Cabarrus County. The compiler regrets exceedingly that he has been unable to gather more definite data on the descendants of John Adam.

12. JACOB BLACKWELDER, son of (6) and his wife Betsey Phifer, was b. in what is now Cabarrus Co. N.C. about the year 1763-1764, according to his gravestone in St. Johns Cemetary near Concord, N.C.

He was twice married. His first wife, whom he married about 1789 was Elizabeth Quillman, daughter of the Revolutionary soldier, Peter Quillman, who is buried in St. Johns Cemetary. (See D.A.R. Magazine Vol. 69, p.365.) Elizabeth d. about 1814 in Cabarrus Co. N.C. She was born in Mecklinburg Co. (now Cabarrus Co.) N.C. Jan. 14, 1770. Jacob and Elizabeth were sponsors at the baptism of her brother, Peter Junior's son, John Jacob Quillman, Nov.24,1799.

Jacob mar. (2) Susannah , who was b. June 28, 1780 and d. Feb. 28, 1854. Her gravestone is by Jacob's in St. Johns Cemetery.

Jacob's family, consisting of himself and wife, and a son under 16, is listed in the 1790 Census for Mecklinburg Co. N.C. The family is listed in the 1830 and 1840 Censuses for Cabarrus County. The widow Susanna is listed in the 1850 Census for Cabarrus.

" " Jan. 17, 1804, he was on the Grand Jury.

Trial Docket of the Pleas and Quarter Sessions, p. 7, he was a juror on the Cabarrus County Court.

Jacob Blackwelder's family was well represented in the early history of Illinois. His daughter Rachel, b. Oct.1, 1794, mar. in 1818 Daniel Karraker, and came to Southern Illinois and settled in Union County - the same year that Illinois became a state.

In 1833-34 Rachel's brother, Alfred, and his cousin, Peter, the son of Jacob's brother Isaac, came to Illinois and spent the winter in Union County with the Karrakers, going on to Montgomery County in the spring of 1834.

The old log cabin home of Jacob Blackwelder stood not far from St. Johns Lutheran Church in Cabarrus County, N.C. until within the last few years. It was a two-story structure with narrow winding steps to the upper room. When a great-granddaughter, Miss Ruth Blackwelder of Concord, last visited it, she gathered from the general ruin of the place, the hinges that supported the front door, and two wide panels of wood that had graced the interior. Carved on an exposed log in the room upstairs was the date "1810" which one of the older boys - Andrew, George, Solomon, or this compiler's great grandfather, Peter, may have carved.

The Quillman family to which Elizabeth belonged were neighbors of Jacob Blackwelder's parents, Caleb II and Betsey (Phifer) Blackwelder. Old court records in Mecklinburg and Cabarrus County show that they witnessed will of neighbors together, worked on the county road together, served on the juries, etc. Peter Quillman, the immigrant, is listed in the 1790 Census for Mecklinburg. He is known to have had two sons and two daughters, namely Peter, Junior, George, Mary and Elizabeth. Peter, Jr. married Barbara Meisemheimer (?), George married Catherine Barringer, Mary married Jacob Lipe, and Elizabeth married this Jacob Blackwelder. Peter and Barbara Quillman had sons John Jacob, baptized at St. John's Lutheran Church, Cabarrus Co. N.C. 11-24-1799, Aaron, and Elias, and a daughter, Milly, who married Aaron Lipe. These four children of Peter Jr. and Barbara Lipe Quillman came to Illinois about the time Jacob Blackwelder's son Alfred, and the latter's first cousin, Peter, son of Jacob's brother, Isaac, came here. Peter Blackwelder and Peter Quillman, Jr. were first cousins. The Quillman children settled first in Union County where their other cousin, Rachel Blackwelder Karraker, Jacob Blackwelder's daughter had settled in 1818. They later moved north into Jackson and Perry Counties, Ills. There appears to have been no communication between the Quillmans and their cousins, Alfred and Peter, after the latter removed to Montgomery County.

During Revolutionary days marauding bands of Tories and British soldiers harrassed the peaceful Germans in eastern Mecklinburg County, who promptly took up arms to rout the invaders. The family of Schwarzwelder was nobly represented among those patriotic people. The number of soldiers furnished by that family alone is said to have totaled 8. Of those only Isaac, Jacob's older brother, and Charles, his cousin, son of John Adam Blackwelder, ever claimed a pension for their patriotic service. Jacob's brother, John, was taken prisoner by the British and confined in Camden, S.C., but was never returned to his home. It is presumed that he died in prison. There is no doubt that Jacob, the third son, born about 1763, was also a soldier of the Revolution, since he was 17 to 20 years of age at the time of the invasion of the British. He never claimed a pension.

Jacob's family is well represented among the citizens of the state of Illinois. (See page vi)

13. MARTIN BLACKWELDER, son of (6) and his wife, Betsey Phifer, was b. in that part of Mecklinburg Co. N.C. which in 1792 became Cabarrus, on Adams Run about Dec. 27, 1766, being at the time of his death on May 27, 1840, 73 years, 5 months of age. He was twice married, his first wife being, it is said, Elizabeth Meisenheimer (was she daughter of George and Sarah?) who died 10-25-1825 at the age of 59 years, 1 month, and 29 days. Martin mar. (2) 10-6-1826 Elizabeth Corl. (See Cabarrus Co. Marriage Bonds)

References to Martin Blackwelder in the Cabarrus County Court Records are as follows:

On 4-18-1798 Henry Weaver was appointed overseer of the road from the forks of the Fayetteville Road near Martin Stough's to Buffalo Creek in the place of Martin Blackwelder.

January Session, 1812, Division of Land, File C-D-E-F, Martin Blackwelder was one to help in the division of Melcher Fogleman's estate.

In 1819 he assisted his brothers Daniel and Jacob, and his nephews George and Charles in the division of Peter Quillman's ESTATE. (Peter Quillman's sister, Elizabeth, had married Martin's brother, Jacob Blackwelder.) (See Division of Lands File Q-R-S in the Concord Court House, N.C.)

With his brother, Isaac, he was witness to their brother Daniel's will. (See Pleas and Quarter Sessions Book 2. p.48.)

" " 10-22-1801 and 7-23- same year.

In the 1790 Census for Mecklinburg County, N.C., page 161, besides himself and wife, a son under 16 is listed. He administered the estate of his father, Caleb, the immigrant who died September 26, 1794. The estate was administered October 22, 1794, Martin producing his brother Isaac and Peter Quillman as sureties. He died Cabarrus Co. N.C. May 27, 1840 at the age of 73 years and 5 months.

Four and possibly five of his daughters came to Illinois in the early days, their descendants becoming prominent citizens of Montgomery County, that state.

THE MONTGOMERY COUNTY COURT HOUSE
Hillsboro, Illinois

Shown above is the Montgomery County Court House in Hillsboro as it appeared seventy-five years ago. Originally built in 1835 and extensively remodeled about 1870, it replaced the log cabin structure which stood on the same site from 1823 to 1835.

(The engraving was made by R.A. Hastings, and was reproduced from the Montgomery County Atlas of 1874, which contains brief biographies of many of the North Carolina settlers in this county.)

In this building are recorded the marriages from 1823 of those North Carolinians who came to Montgomery County. Here are recorded their deaths and the births of their descendants from the year 1877. All their land transactions and estate settlements from the beginning of the county are on file here, together with guardians' papers, war records, and many other items. From the archives of the Montgomery County Court House came literally thousands of records in the compilation of this genealogy of the Blackwelder and Allied Families.

V. Joseph Cress, b. Cabarrus Co. N.C. about 1802. He mar. Betsey Ludewick who was b. Cabarrus County in 1807. They came to Montgomery Co. Ills. about 1827. 15. DANIEL BLACKWELDER, son of (6) and his wife Betsey Phifer Blackwelder, was b. in what is now Cabarrus Co. North Carolina, but then Mecklinburg County about 1774. He mar. (1) Cabarrus Co. N.C. 1-29-1798 Elizabeth Dschuk. In the old records of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Cabarrus County, on page 23 is this item in German: "Buried at Buffalo Creek, March 17, 1799, Elizabeth, daughter of John Dschuk and his wife, Margaret. She was born March 26, 1778, married Daniel Blackwelder January 30, 1798 and from this marriage a daughter was born. She died March 15, 1799 in the morning, of consumption which lasted 11 weeks. Her age was 21 years less 11 days."

Daniel Blackwelder mar. (2) 8-8-1800 Maria Frank, who bore him at least 8 children. Daniel was probably too young to have served in the Revolutionary War, since in the 1790 Census for Mecklinburg Co. N.C. he is doubtless the male child under 16 in the home of Caleb Blackwelder. (See p. 161 of the N.C. Census.) However his granddaughter, Mrs. Sarah Walker Ritchie, who lived to be more than 100 years old, declared that he was a Revolutionary soldier.

References to Daniel Blackwelder in the Cabarrus County Court Minutes are infrequent, but in the Minutes for the period 1797-1805, page 395, under date of April 18, 1804 a bill of sale was admitted to be recorded for some goods and chattels from John Gallimore to Daniel Blackwelder.

His will is recorded in the records of the Pleas and Quarter Sessions, Vol 2, page 48. In it he mentions his wife, Mary, and son, Allen. The will was witnessed by his older brothers, Isaac and Martin, and the estate was administered by his sons-in-law, John Ritchie and Frederick Walker.

23. PETER BLACKWELDER, son of (11) was b. on his father's farm on Adams Creek near St. John's Lutheran Church in Cabarrus Co. N.C. 9-7-1810. He was baptized in infancy, and received into that church in his nineteenth year.

In the year 1833 in company with his cousin, Alfred Blackwelder, son of (12) he set out for Illinois. The following is an extract from a letter to this compiler written from Dobson, N.C. under date of 4-15-1947 by Roy Busby Blackwelder, a great grandson of Moses Blackwelder, No.(22) above:

"There is a story handed down from my great-grandfather, Moses Blackwelder, that one Peter Blackwelder suddenly disappeared. (I'm not sure he was a brother of Moses.) It was early one morning that Peter walked down the road from the old log house, located on Adams Run; after walking some distance, he stopped, turned, and took as it were one farewell gaze at the old home place. Then he resumed his journey afoot over the rolling hills and out of sight. This was the last they ever heard or saw of Peter."

Peter and his cousin, Alfred, reached Southern Illinois in the late fall of 1833, and spent the winter in Union County in the home of Alfred's sister, Rachel (Blackwelder) Karraker, No.
 27, who was also Peter's cousin. In the spring of 1834 they rode northward to Montgomery County, where in the vicinity of what is now Litchfield they proceeded to found homes.

Peter Blackwelder was a carpenter, as well as farmer, and assisted in the construction of the First Lutheran Church of Litchfield, of which he was a member. He had been the first superintendent of the Sunday School in the Long Branch school house before the Lutheran Church was built.

On May 2, 1837 he mar. Nellie Scherer, dau. of Frederick and Margaret (Clapp) Scherer, the ceremony being performed by the bride's uncle, Rev. Daniel Scherer, pastor of the Hillsboro Lutheran Church. Nellie was b. in Guildford Co. N.C. 10-16-1811. In 1833 she had mar. in N.C. John Waggoner, and they, with her parents came to Illinois, settling near Hillsboro. Mr. Waggoner died 8-21-1834.

In August after Peter's marriage, he entered, for $104, 80 acres of land where the city of Litchfield now stands, and improved his farm, where he lived until his death, Jan. 15, 1857. He died of cholera which became somewhat of an epidemic in that year. He was a "Free Soil Democrat".

Nellie Blackwelder d. near Litchfield, Ills., 9-13-1854 at the age of 42-10-27. They are buried in Lutheran Cemetery near their home.

31. PETER ALEXANDER BLACKWELDER, son of (12) and Elizabeth Quillman, was b. Cabarrus Co. N.C. 5-19-1802.
 To distinguish him from his cousin, Peter, No. 23, son of Isaac,
 No. 11, he was called "White Peter Alec" because he was blonde.

He mar. in Cabarrus Co. N.C. (1) 12-18-1839 Elizabeth, dau.
 of Henry and Mary (Fesperman) Ridenhour. Elizabeth was b. Cabarrus County 5-9-1819. (Ruth Bowles of Litchfield, Ills., gives her birth as May 7.) Mrs. Blackwelder d. 5-10-1854 when her
 dau. Jennie was an infant. The latter and her sister, Kemmie, (later Kemmie Bandy) were taken to be reared by their maternal grandfather, Henry Ridenhour. When the latter and his daughters Ruth and Polly came to Illinois about 1857, little Jennie came with them, but Kemmie went to live with her father's brother,

Mary M. Scott

"Sandy" Alexander Blackwelder. Peter Blackwelder mar. (2) in Cabarrus County 10-20-1856, and d. soon after the birth of their daughter, Lucinda Jane. He passed away in Cabarrus Co. N.C. 3-20-1858.

Among his close relatives who came to Illinois were his sisters, Rachel Karraker, Malinda Meisenheimer, Christina Cline-Ludewick, his brother, Alfred, his sister, Catherine McFarland-Safrit, his cousin, Peter son of Isaac (11) his Uncle Martin's daughters, namely: Catherine Carraker, (No. 38) Elizabeth Carraker, (No. 39) Rachel Lipe, (No. 40) and Sarah Lingle, (No. 42) and many others.

His daughter, Kemmie Bandy, this compiler's great aunt, was the last of his children to die. It was from her that many of the records for this genealogy were secured. She had the family Bible of Jacob Blackwelder (No. 12) son of the immigrant, Gottlieb Schwarzwald, or Caleb Blackwelder, (No. 6) She had lived among her father's and mother's people from the time of her birth in 1848 until she came to Illinois about 1870, and visited with her many Illinois relatives while she made her home in Montgomery Co. Ills., with her father's brother, Alfred Blackwelder, (No. 35) who had come to Illinois in 1833. For many years she lived next door neighbor to the Montgomery County Ritchies, sons of her father's cousin, Celia Blackwelder Ritchie, daughter of Daniel (No. 15) her grandfather, Jacob's brother.

With all these facts given him first-hand by the daughter of Caleb (No. 6) Blackwelder's grandson, as early as 1918 when still under 70 years of age her mind was as keen as could be, and her memory excellent, , this compiler is indeed grateful to Peter Blackwelder for the contribution his children, his nieces and nephews, etc. have made to the history of Illinois and to the compilation of this genealogy.

Children of Peter and Elizabeth Blackwelder: (Surname-Blackwelder)

34. SOPHIA BLACKWELDER BARNHART, dau. of (12) and his wife Elizabeth Quillman, was b. Cabarrus Co. N.C., 1-13-1808. She mar. in Cabarrus County 1-5-1846 John F. Barnhart, her father, Jacob Blackwelder, being bondsman.

This compiler's mother remembered that in her childhood - she came to Illinois when she was six - her father and mother, Aaron and Martha (Blackwelder) Friesland, used to go as far as Uncle John's and Aunt Sophia's and spend the night on Saturdays, then go on to St. John's Church for Sunday services. Sophia was Martha Friesland's aunt, being a sister of Martha's father, Peter Blackwelder (No. 31).

Children: (Surname - Barnhart)

35. ALFRED BLACKWELDER, son of (12) and Elizabeth Quillman, was b. Cabarrus Co. N.C. 7-17-1811. In company with his cousin, Peter Blackwelder (No. 23) he left his native state in the fall of 1833 and travelled through on horseback to Union County in Southern Illinois where his sister, Rachel Karkaker (No. 27) had lived since 1818.

In the spring of 1834 they rode on northward to Montgomery County where they settled near what is now Litchfield. They arrived there at the time the April term of the County Court was in session. Alfred had ridden a small sorrel horse and had $10 in cash. He worked for three years for $10 a month, then rented land until 1840 when he bought 80 acres of land in South Litchfield Township, where he lived in a small frame house for 16 years. He then purchased a 240 acre farm which is now (1947) just outside the city limits of Litchfield. This compiler has been to the old house many times, for as a child we stopped there on our way to my mother's Aunt Kemmie Bandy's home.

On April 19, 1838 Alfred mar. Joanna, dau. of Frederick and niece of Rev. Daniel Scherer, the latter of whom was for many years the well-loved pastor of Old St. John's Lutheran Church in Alfred's home county in North Carolina. Joanna was b. Guilford Co. N.C. 11-13-1816 and d. 1-31-1876. Her mother was Margaret Clapp, a daughter of the Revolutionary soldier, Barney Clapp, of Guilford Co. N.C. Barney's wife was Judith?

Mr. and Mrs. Blackwelder were members of the Litchfield Lutheran Church, in which for 21 years, Alfred was either a deacon or an elder. He was a Democrat. One remarkable thing about Alfred's family was that for 52 years there was never a death in his family.

It was in Alfred's home that Aunt Kemmie Blackwelder lived after coming to Illinois about 1870 until the time of her marriage to B.W. Bandy. From him and his cousin Peter (No. 23) and many other cousins who had lived in North Carolina, Kemmie received her wonderful store of information about the Blackwelder relatives, much of which she passed on to her sister's grandson, this compiler.

Alfred Blackwelder d. on his farm near Litchfield 2-13- 1898. Both he and Joanna, his cousin Peter, son of the Revolutionary soldier, Isaac, (No. 11) and many other relatives from North Carolina are buried in Lutheran Cemetary, which was on a part of Peter's farm near Litchfield.

In 1831 Mr. and Mrs. Lipe, Jr. came to Montgomery County, Ills., settling in Rountree Township. They were among the founders of St. John's Lutheran Church in that community, named for their home church in Cabarrus C. N.C. Their home was close by the church. When this compiler's grandparents came to Illinois in the winter of 1865 following the Civil War, after having lost all their belongings on the trip here, Rachel Blackwelder Lipe took them in and fed and clothed them during that first hard, Northern winter the Frieslands spent in Illinois. Rachel was the first cousin of Martha Blackwelder Friesland's father, Peter Blackwelder, (No. (31)).

At one time Mr. Lipe owned 500 acres of land. He d. 11-16-1857. Rachel d. 11-30-1881, and at the time of her death she had 13 children, 131 grandchildren, 243 great grandchildren, and 21 great great grandchildren. Of her living descendants there were 304.

Rachel shared in her father, Martin Blackwelder's estate as administered by H.A. Blackwelder. (See Equity Docket, p.98 under date 11-4-1879.) Rachel was a granddaughter of the immigrant, Gottlieb Schwarzwald, or Caleb Blackwelder who was b. Germany, 11-8-1722, came to America, landing at Philadelphia January 1756, and d. Cabarrus Co. N.C. 9-26-1794. Her grandmother, Betsy (Phifer) Blackwelder, was the patriotic heroine of Revolutionary days who made the now famous ride to South Carolina to secure the release of her husband, Caleb, her son, John, and son-in-law, John Paul Barringer.

50. ISAAC SIMEON BLACKWELDER, son of (23) was b. near Litchfield, Ills., 3-8-1840. The following biographical sketch was provided by his son, Eliot, of Stanford University:

"His father and mother were pionerr settlers of the count;
but both of them died before he had outgrown childhood. He therefore found himself head of the family and in charge of the farm before he was 17 years old. He took advantage of the only available opportunities for education - the local country school, with two winter terms at a nearby academy (Hillsboro Academy operated by the Lutheran Church) where some classical studies were afforded. Being an assiduous reader of good literature all his life, he was essentially self-educated.

"In the winter seasons he often worked as a rail splitter and carpenter, and later as clerk in a store. He even read law for a time in the office of the county judge at Hillsboro. At the unusually early age of 21 he was elected county clerk.
(In September 1867 he was appointed guardian for Jeanette Elizabeth, daughter of his father's cousin, Peter Blackwelder.)
After his term in office he entered the fire insurance business.

in St. Louis, and served as one of the loss adjusters after the great fire in 1871 in Chicago. In 1882 he was appointed manager of the western department of the Niagara Fire Insurance Company in Chicago. This position he held until his retirement in 1910.

"On 4-5-1877 he mar. Alice Gertrude Boughton of Lawrence, Kansas. After some years in Chicago they established their home in the new suburb of Morgan Park where their two sons had the advantage of semi-rural surroundings and excellent schools. The family home was maintained there until 1918. Returning to Chicago for a few years, the Blackwelders then moved out to Stanford University, California, in order to be near their son, Eliot. Mr. I.S. Blackwelder d. there 8-16-1926, after an illness of only a few months. Mr. Blackwelder was a man of large frame, and in middle age rather stout. His health was nearly always good: he had abundant energy and a genial temperament. Being interested in community affairs, he served as president of the village board, president of the Western Underwriters Union, and vice-president of the Union League of Chicago. He was an interested member of the Sons of the American Revolution and other organizations.

"He became interested in the history of his family and made a rather extensive study of the genealogy of both his father's and mother's lines, tracing their history back to the time when his ancestors emigrated from Germany before the American Revolution."

At the time of the Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893 among the relatives from North Carolina who came to Illinois for that great world's fair was Major General Rufus Barringer. The general's grandmother, Catherine Blackwelder Barringer, was a sister of Isaac Simeon's grandfather, Isaac, the Revolutionary soldier. (See No. 11). They talked over many matters of family history, and the general, because he had always lived within a few miles of where the Blackwelders and Barringers had settled in Cabarrus County, N.C. in the middle of the XVIII Century, had many data unknown to Isaac Simeon, born as he was in Illinois, whither his father, Peter, had come six years before. Among the facts recorded by Isaac Simeon at that time were these:

1. Their (Isaac Simeon's and Gen. Barringer's) great grandfather was Gottlieb Schwarzwald, later called Caleb Blackwelder, and his wife was Betsy Phifer.
2. They set sail from Bremerhaven, Germany for America in the fall of 1755.
3. A daughter, "Katy" Catherine, was b. at sea 12-18-1755. She was the grandmother of Gen. Barringer, and sister of Isaac Simeon's grandfather, Isaac, who was b. in Virginia in 1757.
4. They landed at Philadelphia, January 1756.
5. They settled in that part of Mecklinburg, North Carolina which later became Cabarrus County. Gottlieb's farm of about 400 acres was situated about 4 miles east of Concord.
6. Isaac's and "Katy"'s brother, John, was in the Battle of Camden, S.C. with Isaac, was made prisoner of the British, and never returned to his home. His mother, Betsey Phifer Blackwelder, made two trips on horseback to Camden and went within Lord Cornwallis' lines to secure the release of her son, John, her husband, Caleb, and her son-in-law, John Paul Barringer. It is supposed that John died in the prison. Betsey's husband and son-in-law were eventually released. (See Blackwelder-Scherer Families" by Isaac Simeon Blackwelder.)

Mr. Blackwelder subsequently visited Gen. Barringer in his home in Charlotte, N.C. and obtained additional data on the Blackwelder family. He then compiled a brief brochure of his family; which treatise has become widely known among the various branches of the family throughout the United States. A copy of the manuscript is to be found in the files of the North Carolina Historical Commission at Raleigh.

The compiler of this pedigree corresponded with Mr. I.S. Blackwelder over a period of several years, and when I discovered the statement by many Barringer as well as Phifer descendants that Catherine Blackwelder Barringer was a sister of Margaret Blackwelder Phifer, and that they were both daughters of that Caleb Blackwelder whose wife was Polly Decker, and hence the latter was mother-in-law of John Paul Barringer, and the woman who made the famous ride from Concord to Camden, I determined to show, by reason and documentary proof that Polly Decker Blackwelder could not have been the mother-in-law of J.P. Barringer, nor the mother of "Katy" Blackwelder Barringer, nor the one who made the famous ride.

The reason for the error's creeping into even the history books of North Carolina are probably these:

1. Margaret Blackwelder Phifer is conceded to have been the daughter of that Caleb Blackwelder whose wife was Polly Decker.
2. Because THEY were not descended from Betsey Phifer Blackwelder, and because they were unaware that there were two Caleb Blackwelders of different generations connected with the Phifer family, the Phifer descendants of 100 or more years ago supposed that the Caleb whose wife made the horseback trip behind Lord Cornwallis' lines was the same Caleb who was the father of their ancestress, Margaret Phifer.
3. Why the Barringer should have followed this false reasoning is beyond me. There are those who claim that Gen. Barringer himself claimed Polly Decker as his ancestress. If ever he did, which to this compiler is doubtful - (in his famous address of November 10, 1883 on "Early German Settlers in Eastern Cabarrus", published in the University (N.C.) Monthly, April, 1884, Vol. IV. No. 7, where he refers to her only as "old Mrs. Blackwelder") - he certainly repudiated it in 1893 while visiting his Illinois cousins, only a year or so before his death on Feb. 3, 1895.

Isaac Simeon Blackwelder was of course aware that his father, Peter, No. 23, had several half-brothers and sisters, children of his grandfather, Isaac's (No. 11) first wife, Mary Phifer, who was Isaac's own cousin. That can only mean that if Isaac married his first cousin, Mary Phifer, her father, a Mr. Phifer, would be the brother of Isaac's mother. Hence, Caleb's wife could only have been a Phifer, and her name is known to have been Betsey. This compiler is of the opinion that both Betsey and her brother who was the father of Mary Phifer Blackwelder, were brother and sister of the Martin Phifer who married Margaret Blackwelder. The chart on the following page may help to make this relationship clear.

CHRISTINA

51. MARTHA/BLACKWELDER FRIESLAND, dau. of (31) was b. on her father's farm in Cabarrus Co. N.C., 9-13-1841, and was baptized at historic St. John's Lutheran Church near Concord. On June 26, 1858, when she was not yet 17 years old bonds were issued for her marriage to Aaron Adam Friesland, son of John and Mary "Polly" (Roan) Friesland. They were married, 7-1-1858. Aaron had first married, 8-5-1852, Martha's cousin, Elizabeth Cline, who was b. 12-20-1830, dau. of Martha's aunt and uncle, Esther Blackwelder and George Cline. To Aaron and Elizabeth was born a son, John Adam Friesland. Elizabeth d. 2-22-1858. Just four months later Aaron married Martha, who became a real mother to little John, and reared him with all the love and tenderness she gave to her own numerous children.

TENTATIVE PEDIGREE
THE BLACKWELDER FAMILY

When the war between the states broke out Aaron enlisted at Mt. Pleasant, N.C. 8-24-1861, and served for four years in Co. H, 8th N.C. Regiment. The family had long been planning to move to Illinois whether many relatives of both Aaron and Martha had migrated - some as early as 1818. All the time Aaron was away at war Martha was busy carding, spinning, dyeing, weaving, and fashioning warm clothing for the long northern winters. Aaron was mustered out of the service in November and joined his family on their westward journey. In the party were also Martha's cousin, Wiley Ridenhour, and Aaron's brother "Dock" and others.

Owing to the unsettled times following the Civil War, travelers were lucky to arrive at their destination, to say nothing of having their baggage arrive safely. Somewhere on the two weeks trip from Cabarrus County, North Carolina, to Irving, Montgomery County, Illinois, by wagon, train, ferry, and river boat, a large "drummer's" trunk, containing the results of Martha's four years' labor at weaving and tailoring was lost. The family arrived in Illinois in November, just at the onset of an unusually cold winter. They settled in the Blackwelder-Lipe community near St. John's Lutheran Church about nine miles north of Irving. Their needs thru the winter were graciously supplied by relatives, notably the Lipes and Lingles, the maternal heads of which were first cousins of Martha's father, Peter Blackwelder.

The family lived variously at Witt, Butler, Hillsboro, and at Woodsboro, all in Montgomery County. In 1875 they were living at the latter place when on December 28 Martha died and was buried by her little daughter in Clear Springs Cemetary. Aaron was twice married later, and died at Troy, Madison County, Ills., in 1909. He is buried in the city cemetary in Hillsboro.

52. JOAN KEMMALINE "KEMMIE" BLACKWELDER BANDY, dau. of (31)
 was b. Cabarrus Co. N.C. 9-1-1848.
 Her mother died when Kemmie was about 5 years old, and she lived with various aunts and uncles until her father remarried. He did not live many years after that, and Kemmie then made her home with her Uncle "Sandy". When she was about 21 she came to Illinois to visit her sister, Martha C. Friesland, who had preceeded her in 1865. She liked Illinois so well she decided to remain here. She made her home with her Uncle Alfred until her marriage.

Because she always had a keen interest in her family history, and lived among the North Carolina relatives until she was past twenty, and visited widely among her Montgomery County Illinois relatives, she had a wonderful store of data regarding both the Blackwelders and Ridenhours, the latter being her mother's family. Much of this information Kemmie passed on to her eager nephew, this compiler. His indebtedness to her in this regard can never be repaid.

Kemmie mar. 10-9-1878 Bluford W. Bandy of Litchfield, Ills. b. 11-14-1849, the son of Wesley and Priscilla (Ozburn) Bandy. 63. MARGARET ELIZABETH FRIESLAND WILLIAMS, dau. of (51) by his second wife, Martha Christina Blackwelder, was b. near St. John's Lutheran Church, Cabarrus Co. N.C. 5-9-1860. She was named for her grandmother, Elizabeth Ridenhour Blackwelder and another grandmother, Margaret, but this compiler has not been able to determine just who that grandmother was, unless Mary Roan Friesland's name was also Margaret. "Little Betty" was baptized in historic St. John's Church, though when her son searched the church records, he did not find where her birth or baptism was recorded. She was called "Little Betty" to distinguish her from her father's sister, Betty Sehorn.

It was the frequent custom of her parents to go "as far as Uncle John and Aunt Soph Barnhart's" on Saturday evening where the Friesland family spent the night so that they could be on time for church on Sunday morning. Aunt Soph was a sister of Betty's maternal grandfather, Peter Blackwelder.

Early in the conflict between the states, Aaron Friesland joined the Confederate Army at Mt. Pleasant, N.C. and served therein for four years. In November, 1865 the family came to the Blackwelder - Lipe community near St. John's Lutheran Church in Montgomery County, Illinois, and there, surrounded by her relatives - Blackwelders, Lingles, Lipes, Neislars, Bosts, Ridenhours, etc. Betty grew up.

She mar. (1) 12-28-1880 at Palmer, Christian County, Illinois, Charles Henry Williams, who was b. Auburn, Fayette Co. Iowa 3-7-1855, the son of James Henry and Mary Reinold Williams, of Lapeer, Michigan. Mr. Williams died and was buried at Tallulah, Madison Parish, Louisiana, 7-19-1909.

Mrs. Williams with her family removed from Louisiana in 1910 and settled in St. Louis, Mo. She mar. (2) Robert A. Roberson. She d. 3-6-1935 at Ina, Jefferson Co. Ills., and was buried in Abner Cemetary near Nason in that county.

- 64. DEWARD CHARLES WILLIAMS, son of (63) was b. Coffeen, Montgomery Co. Ills. 7-6-1895. He attended the public schools of Coffeen, Fillmore, and Hillsboro, Illinois, and Tallulah, La. He took his high school work at Penn Academy and John Fletcher Academy in Oskaloosa, Iowa, and graduated Magna Cum Laude from Pasadena College, Pasadena, Calif. in June, 1921, with the A.B. degree. For four years he taught and was in civil service in Los Angeles, but in 1924 he returned with his wife and two sons to his native state of Illinois. For six years he taught Music and Latin in Southern Illinois high schools, and in September 1930 he entered the ministry of the Methodist Church. He has served charges at Macedonia, Crossville, Coffeen-Fillmore, his home towns, Norris City, Nashville, and Marissa, and is at present pastor of Immanuel Methodist Church in Edwardsville, Ills.

On 6-27-1920 he mar. at Omaha, Nebr., Ina Opal Rhodes-Dean, b. 4-29-1894, daughter of John H. and Mary (Butterfield) Rhodes of Stuart, Nebr., and adopted daughter of John T. and Elizabeth (Butterfield) Dean of the same place.

Mr. Williams is the compiler of this genealogy and of many others, including brochures on the families of: Barringer, Bost, Corlew, Cress, Friesland, Fogleman, Hefley, Karraker, Lingle, Lipe, Lyerla, Meisenheimer, Phifer, Quillman, Ridenhour, Scherer, all North Carolina families, and many New England families connected with his father's people.

Mr. Williams is a member of the Illinois Society, Sons of the American Revolution, Secretary of the Edwardsville, Madison County, Illinois Ministerial Association, dean of the Edwardsville Union Daily Vacation Bible School, and for many years has been instructor in Hymnology and crafts at the Methodist Youth Fellowship Institute at McKendree College, Lebanon, Ills.

APPENDIX

The compiler of this genealogy has been gathering data on the Illinois Blackwelder and allied families since 1918. There have been months and even years when it seemed certain branches could be traced no further. Then would come a clue, which followed up, would yield valuable data. Realizing that the process of following out all the ramifications of such a numerous relationship as the Blackwelders can never be completed, I decided to publish the material now in hand.

Owing to the high cost of all printing materials and service, it was felt that a printed genealogy was out of the question. Since modern mimeographing is highly satisfactory, it was decided to use that method. The typing of the stencils for this genealogy was begun weeks ago. Now, that its publication has been advertized, new lines are being located and an effort is being made to include as many as possible in this volume. Because some pages were already made ready for duplicating, it is necessary to add an appendix, in order to give representation to those Blackwelder descendants who have lately contributed data, and have indicated where additional materials may be found.

Among the latter group has been that representing descendants of the Revolutionary soldier, Isaac, son of the immigrant, Caleb Blackwelder. A new correspondent, Mr. Cary Laws, of Baltimore, Md., states that he has the old Blackwelder Bible and a family record compiled by his grandfather, Caleb Alexander Blackwelder, No. 19 a. Since Mr. Laws is a Naval man, and his records are kept in a vault in Jacksonville, Fla., the contents of those records have not been available to this compiler.

The following data were contributed by Mr. Laws and his kinswoman, Mrs. Warren Smith of Warsaw, N.C. It checks, in part, with material found in the Iredell N.C. Census records, hereinbefore mentioned.

19a. CALEB ALEXANDER BLACKWELDER, son of Caleb and Leah (Cline) Blackwelder (See page 27) and grandson of Isaac and Mary (Phifer) Blackwelder, was b. probably in Cabarrus Co. N.C. about 1830. He is listed in the Iredell County 1850 Census as being aged 20 years. A Catherine, aged 22, is also listed, which Catherine must have been his wife, Catherine McKoy or McKay, daughter of Angus McKay. They are also listed in the McDowell County, N.C. 1870 Census, in which his age is given as 40 and Catherine's as 41. In the home were nine children ranging in age from 19 years to 1 year.

Caleb Alexander was a soldier in the Confederate Army, serving in "Regiment K, Hill's Division". I quote from a letter from Cary Laws under date of April 3, 1947: "... failed to send the copy of the old family Bible which is hand-written. This copy is of the Caleb Blackwelder. Caleb Alexander Blackwelder, my grandfather which I believe to be the youngest bearing the name Caleb. He was born in Iredell or Cabarrus County, N.C., and married Catherine McKoy of the same county. They had eleven children of which my mother was third from the youngest. There is only one living now, Aunt Sarah, who was a year older than my mother. She is 84 years old about, and Mrs. Sam Vercoe of Plummer, Idaho. My grandfather lived with me the last three years of his life, and died at my home in Tampa, Fla., during 1920 at the age of 91 years. His grave and tombstone can be seen at the old cemetery two miles from Old Fort, N.C."

Quotation continued: "He enlisted in the Confederate Army, date unknown, served until near the end when he was wounded with four bullet holes in left arm and shoulder in the Battle of Gettesburg, Va., and was discharged physically unfit. He walked from Gettesburg, Va. to Old Fort, N.C. He was in Regiment K, Hill's Division, and kept for many years a chip off the apple tree that Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered under..... I also have grandpa's Bible, passed down to him and in such a condition you cannot find the date it was issued, but I believe it to be 1756." (Compiler's note: The grandfather of Caleb Alexander Blackwelder, namely Caleb, and his wife Betsey Phifer Blackwelder, landed in Philadelphia in January 1756.)

The following data came from Mrs. Warren Smith of Warsaw, N.C. regarding her great grandfather, Caleb Alexander Blackwelder: He was b. in Cabarrus Co. N.C., mar. Katherine McKay, (Mrs. Smith is her namesake.) Katherine was b. near Huntersville, N.C. and d. at Old Fort, N.C. in Siloam Cemetery. They came to McDowell Co. N.C. "just before or just after" the War between the States. He had a sister, Leah Blackwelder McCoy? According to Mrs. Smith Caleb Alexander and Katherine (McKay) Blackwelder had the following

Children: (Surname - Blackwelder) *

I. Leroy C. (19 in McDowell 1870 Census) b. 1854. His daughter, Lena Blackwelder mar. Robert M. McElroy, 2-4-1902 in Asheville, N.C. They were the parents of Mrs. Smith.

IX. Betty	5 " " "	b. 1870. Mar. Lancaster.
X. Charles	(Not in 1879 Census)	b. 1873.

Note*. I have listed the children in the order in which Mrs. Smith recorded them, which dates are apparently only approximate. The order of age given in the 1870 Census for McDowell County is not the correct order, as follows:

LeRoy, Lucilla, Whitson M., Harriet, Bruce, Martha, Sarah, Betty, Rufus.

Under date of May 5, 1947 Mrs. Warren A. Smith wrote:

"The following was copied from a clipping from the Cabarrus County paper (probably in 1879) about my great grandfather's mother: "Mrs. Leah Cline Blackwelder, a resident of this county, is now 87 years old. She was born and raised in this county and married Caleb Blackwelder, now dead. She is the mother of 15 children, has 65 grandchildren, 66 great grandchildren, and 7 great great grandchildren. She had 4 sons who lived to maturity and seven daughters. The sons were:

John who married a Krider.
Wilson who married an Overcash first, and second a Martin and moved to Texas.
Alexander married Katherine McKoy (this is my great grand - father and mother) - parenthesis by Mrs. Smith.
Benjamin married a Walters and went to Indiana.

The daughters were:

Sallie married Joseph Cook. (Mar. Cabarrus Co. N.C. 9-15-1832, Henry Blackwelder, bondsman. (This date from the compiler's notes.)
Sophia married a Parker
Mary married a Carr
Rachel married Alex Deaton
Leah married George McKoy
Jane unmarried
Julia unmarried

The name Cline was originally spelled Klein. Mr. Williams, in another note she tells me my great grandfather's father was Caleb Blackwelder, his father was Isaac, and his father Caleb." Compiler's note: This agrees with the brochure by I.S. Blackwelder, and with this compiler's findings.)

T All the above quotation was from a letter to Mrs. Smith by a friend of the family in Old Fort, N.C., who said that Caleb Alexander Blackwelder had given her the data some time before his death.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Any compiler of genealogical data is aware of the limitations he faces in his work without the help of others. For the most part the various branches of the Blackwelder and allied families have been most cooperative - a few have shown no interest whatever, some have been hostile, some gave only the meagerest scraps of information.

I especially wish to express gratitude to the following named persons who have aided greatly in the gathering of these data:

Miss Ruth Bowles of Litchfield, Illinois.
The Misses Lore of Concord, North Carolina.
Mr. A. Campbell Cline of Concord.
Miss Ruth Blackwelder of Concord and her sister, Mrs. E.R. King.
Mr. J.J. Blackwelder of Dallas, Texas.
Mr. Eliot Blackwelder of Palo Alto, California.
Mr. Robert Smith Phifer of Jackson, Mississippi.
Mrs. Warren A. Smith of Warsaw, North Carolina.
Mr. Cary Laws of Baltimore and Jacksonville.

The two whose aid was greatest are now deceased. Mr. Isaac Simeon Blackwelder of Chicago and Palo Alto gave me my first inspiration for the assembling of data for a family genealogy. His brochure on the Blackwelder - Scherer Families came into my hands in 1918, and subsequent correspondence with him never failed to yield something of value toward the accomplishment of my goal.

The other person to whom I am greatly indebted for information about the Blackwelder family is my mother's aunt, Mrs. Kemmie Blackwelder Bandy of Litchfield, Illinois, now deceased. Her remarkable memory was stored with names, dates, family relationships which have proved a veritable goldmine in the prosecution of this intriguing hobby of genealogy.

My thanks to all of these and the many others whose assistance I deeply appreciate.

MARY BLACKWELDER SHAVER, probably daughter of (5) was doubtless born in that part of Lunenburg County Virginia which is now Mecklinburg, about the year 1750. She mar. about 1770 John Shaver, a soldier of the American Revolution. Descendants have record of a specie certificate for service dated 6-12-1783. In 1794 John and Mary signed a deed for the sale of property on Cold Water Creek in Mecklinburg Co. N.C. They later settled in Sumner Co. Tenn. A Michael Shaver was there as early as 1789, and on 6-9-1791 a John Shaver made a will in that county in which he bequeaths land on Drakes Creek to one Elizabeth Hacker and orders Frances Catron to give up all papers or bonds of John Shave to Elizabeth Hacker. Peter Shaver was to have all his estate,

The John Shave who married Mary Blackwelder left a will in Lawrence Co. Ark dated 3-22-1832 and probated 1835.

In the 1790 Census for Mecklinburg Co. N.C. he had in his household 2 males over 16, 6 males under 16, and 3 females including the heads of the family.

SOME CORRECTIONS

- Page 49. Martin Luther Blackwelder's birth date should be 3-18-1846 instead of 301801846.
- Page 73. Omit the date 4-19-1896 from the record of J.J. Lingle's third marriage.
